MIT's newly organized Swimming Club, formed on October 4, aims to promote swimming as a sport at Tech. It will also serve to expand the breadth of offerings to participants in this sport. The club will sponsor an Institute Swimming Championship Meet to be held on the December 1, 2-week-end. The Interclass Swimming Trophy will be awarded to the highest-scoring individual and the team with the highest aggregate points. Participation on this water polo squad would be open to all undergraduate and graduate students.

Harry Duncy '57, a transfer to Tech swimmer, was elected the presidential post of the Swimming Club. Prior to this meeting the only time a player could be penalized other than on the spot, was in the case of unsportsmanlike conduct toward oneself or his team and individual unsportsmanlike conduct. Suspensions a player and/or his team for unsportsmanlike behavior will occur for a period of up to a year, for unsportsmanlike conduct toward members of the opposing team.
