CALAEN D OF EVENTS

The Calendar of Events is distributed to the staff at the post office at Boston, Massachu- setts, each Monday, except during college vacations. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Boston, Mass. under the Act of March 3, 1879. Printed in the United States of America at the University Press, Cambridge. Entered as second class matter at the post office at Boston, Mass., October 6, 1960, Jerry Woodall '60, Robert Saunders '60. Arthur Schmidt '60. Peter Silver- man '60, Steve Weinstein '60. Don Wilen '60, Stuart Wilson '60.

For our first lesson in language, let us take up French, which has often been called the langue froide of France. We will approach French in a new manner, because we shall be brutly frank, the way it is. Each of the following "I" colleges is absurd and obsolete. Why all this emphasis on grammar? After all, when we get to France does it really matter if we can conjugate and conjugate? Of course not! So for the first exercise, translate the following real, true-to-life dialogue between two Americans, "I know the name Claude (pronounced Clunis) and Pierre (also pronounced Clunis)."

CLAUDE: Good morning, sir. Can you direct me to the nearest nautical chart store?

PIERRE: I have regret, but I am a stranger here myself.

CLAUDE: Is that you from the French, Pierre? PIERRE: You have right.

CLAUDE: I also. Come, let us mount the airplane and return ourselves to the French.

PIERRE: We must defend ourselves from smoking until the airplane rises itself.

CLAUDE: Ah, now it has raised itself. Will you have a Philip Morris?

PIERRE: I do not like a Philip Morris! How about...? CLAUDE: We shall eat our way to France.

CLAUDE: But you do not look too nice.

PIERRE: I do not look too nice. How about...? CLAUDE: We shall eat our way to France.

CLAUDE: We shall eat our way to France.

PIERRE: We shall eat our way to France.

CLAUDE: We shall eat our way to France.

PIERRE: We shall eat our way to France.
