Coach John Burke started his tallest squad at the start of the second period, with Stan Shilensky '57, teaming with Jordan, Polutchko, Fikes, and Bakerchock, Frank fought its way back into same, however, with Paul Repetto leading the attack with ten points in the first five minutes as the lead dropped 42-29. Paul Repetto hit a long hit, but Clark came fighting back to bring it to within 42-41 before Tech found itself for five successive field goals, sparked by a long one hander dropping by senior Murray Hurovsky. Repetto added two more moves on Tech's board, but Polutchko hit on a one on one header, Paul Larson '58 scored a long set and Polutchko grabbed the last two points 27 seconds before the end of the game.

Does Du Pont hire men who have further military commitments?

Don Sutherland answers:

Donald G. Sutherland graduated from Virginia Polytechnic in 1950 and earned an M.S. degree in chemical engineering and an H.O.T. certificate. He was hired by Du Pont's plant at Virginia, Texas. After two years in the service, Don returned to his career in engineering, and is now doing plant-ambiance work in the technical section at Victoria.

羁, orphan, we definitely do! We've employed quite a number of college graduates with definite military commitments, even when we knew they could work no more than a few weeks before reporting for duty. Take my own case. I was hired in November of 1953 and served in the service for two or more years. He received an extra two months' salary. If he goes into the service for six months, he's paid a half month's salary. When he's entitled to a vacation but doesn't have time to take it before leaving, Du Pont gives him equivalent pay instead.

Even if present employment is impossible, Orion, we definitely recommend your talking with Du Pont's representatives as well as those of other companies. The very least you'll gain will be valuable background and some contacts of real benefit to you when you leave military service.

further military commitments?

Orion A. Ritter, Jr., expects to receive his B.S. in chemical engineering from Louisiana State University in June 1957. He's now editor-in-chief of the "L.S.U. Engineer," local president of Tau Beta Pi, and senior member of the Honor Council of his university. Orion's question is one of many men planning a technical career.
