We'll be on the campus Feb. 25, 26 to discuss your future at Boeing...where rapid growth gives you a chance to move ahead.

This month, while you are making your decisions about the company you want to join, it might be helpful to ask yourself this question: Where will I be five years from now? Ten years?

The answer will depend upon many factors. One of the most important is the growth potential of the company—and the industry you join.

The fact that Boeing is one of the most rapidly expanding organizations in the country could be important to your future. Because expansion opens up plenty of opportunities to move ahead—and assures stable, long-range careers, Boeing, for instance, is organizing new divisions, building new plants and research and development centers.

At Boeing, you'll be with the nation's foremost aircraft manufacturer, the company that's producing America's first commercial jet airplane, the nation's principal long-range jet bombers, and a major guided missile defense. Underway also are years-ahead projects that mean growth far into the future. Another advantage at Boeing you'll be in a young, expanding industry, one with its major growth still ahead.

There are outstanding opportunities at Boeing for majors in Accounting, Actuarial, Industrial Management, Manufacturing, Production, Purchasing, Finance, Physics and related fields. Drop in for a personal-to-person discussion about your career at Boeing.

East Campus Edges Phi Gams

Playing without the services of top rebounder Ted Zach, East Campus' powerful basketball quintet was held to a narrow three-point margin of victory, 12-40, by an almost equally strong Phi Gamma Delta five, Sunday afternoon at Rockwell Cage.

Their chance of victory severely reduced by the absence of Al Beard from the line-up, Phi Gams nevertheless put up a brilliant show as they rallied to cut an eleven-point deficit in the first quarter to a single lead.

Dan Auspens jumped, drove and set up 21 points for the Fijis in leading the game's scorer's, but his total was not enough to affect the 15, 14, and 11-point contributions of CCNY's Harvey Crockett, Tom Courtney, and Frank Schmaltz.

Sigma Chi squares off against Del- ta Upsilon at 9 o'clock tonight in the Wellness Memorial Gymnasium for the right to meet East Campus tomorrow in the semi-finals of the MIT intramural basketball tournament.

Retaining an unblemished record via wins over Phi Delta Theta and Grad Route A, Sigma Chi is relying on its strong defense to spell a win over also undefeated DU. Falling before the Delta Upsilon attack in the playoffs were the Student House and Theta Chi squads. After tonight's contest only two teams will be left with a ledger showing no losses, and by tomorrow night, but one. Meanwhile, in the losers' round, Beta Theta Pi recovered from its opening round setback at the hands of Grad House A to whip Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The championship will be held in the first and second rounds of fencing Tech was tying up or more points. Then the home fences in the third phase of the match rallied to win six of the remaining six bouts. Most of the difficulties which MIT experienced during the Delta Upsilon meet were due to heavy losses in the St. The Stitch's only chance was offered in the 3-2 victory by Tech during last year's match. It was obviously looking for revenge as they took seven of the nine bouts in that weapon.

The full team tallied a 5-4 score with forwards Jim Wettig 2-1, Ted Quait 1-2, and Barry Shibley 2-1. The other team took the win of the day with a 6-3 win with forwards Hal Miller 2-0, Larry Campbell 0-2, Mike Meeker 2-2, and Bob Edwards 1-0. Skee Cretors were Lee Dirks 1-1, Roy Norris 1-2, and Ron Wempen 0-3.

This week Tech meets Boston University, and your campus. Since MIT has beaten every other team which takes part in the New England Inter- vitational Tournament besides these two, this week's competition should afford as indication of the outcome of the 1957-58 season. Tech's championship will be held on the first two days of March this year, and it should draw quite a crowd of fencing enthusiasts to the MIT campus.
