Benny Goodman Orchestra, Kai Winding
To Provide J.P. Weekend Entertainment

The Orchestra of Benny Goodman and Kai Winding will provide the major entertainment for this year’s Junior Prom Week-end. The orchestra will be under the direction of Benny Goodman. The Goodman Orchestra, which has recently been appearing at a six-week engagement in New York, was obtained during the summer by the committee. Composed of top-flight jazz musicians, the orchestra has received wide acclaim as a leading dance orchestra. Goodman, under whose leadership the group was organized and trained, will not be present, but the repertory of the orchestra contains numerous arrangements of well known hits.

J. W. Singsley is under the leadership of Mr. Singsley, the nationally famous trombonist who first formed the Kai Winding band with J. J. Johnson. The Sextet consists of four trombones, a piano and an electric piano steel is known as a versatile group which plays dances music, and jazz as well as popular tunes with equal ease.

"Final Ever"
Dick Sennert, committee chairman, said, "We are especially pleased to have two groups engaging which we hope will provide the finest weekend that has ever occurred."

Ticket prices for the weekend will be: Friday night tickets, $2.50 per couple; Friday and Saturday night combination ticket, $3.75 per couple; Saturday night only, $2.00 per couple.

Option Ticket Sales
Options available for Junior Prom are: Thursday, October 18th, from nine a.m. to four p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m.; Friday, October 19th, from nine a.m. to four p.m. The famous "free" option ticket sales and table reservations will then form the basis of each group's ticket sales which will be sold at noon on Saturday, October 20th. Option ticket sales will be held on the following Monday, Oct. 21.

All Sports Day
To replace the recently abolished Field Day events in the weekend, the Athletic Association has set up the "MIT All Sports Day," which will feature crew races, rowing, tennis, soccer, and track on Institute Ground on Saturday. The AA will also sponsor a luanch in the cage for spectators and their dates.

The Friday night formal will also include a cash (or, "easiest") prize contest, and the crowning of the newly elected Miss Junior Prom Queen on the steps of the Eliot dormitory, under the auspices of the Class of 1959. The contest, which is run by the Public Relations Committee, has among its features a pageant of fast dancers from each of the states and their dates.

Senior Leo F. Kelly
Chosen for Kellogg Institute's Program

Chosen for final enrollment from over 300 applicants for participation in the 1957 Kellogg Institute for the Study of Religion, Senior Leo F. Kelly, '64, has been chosen for participation in the program of the Institute.

The Kellogg Institute, which is a national project conducted by the senior faculty of the American Academy of Religion, has been in operation since 1951. The program of the Institute is designed to provide the opportunity for personal study and reflection in the field of religion in the areas of the history, philosophy, and contemporary problems of religion in the modern world. The program is open to students from all academic disciplines, and the participants come from all parts of the United States.

Junior Leo F. Kelly

Chosen for participation in Kellogg Seminar Institute.

The activities of the Institute are designed to provide a challenging and rewarding experience for participants from diverse academic backgrounds. The program is intended to foster a greater understanding and appreciation of religion, and to enhance the ability of participants to engage in scholarly and professional work in the field of religion. The program includes lectures, discussions, seminars, and independent study projects.

The Kellogg Seminar Institute is a national project conducted by the senior faculty of the American Academy of Religion, which has been in operation since 1951. The program of the Institute is designed to provide the opportunity for personal study and reflection in the field of religion in the areas of the history, philosophy, and contemporary problems of religion in the modern world. The program is open to students from all academic disciplines, and the participants come from all parts of the United States.

Junior Leo F. Kelly, '64, was chosen for participation in the program of the Institute.