NOW that the "Quarter Flight Club" nominations are in, it is time for the students of the MIT community the opportunity of a cheap trip to Europe in the company of a fellow traveler. However, it is the favorite tourist sport. However, the MIT family are acquainted with the lure of foreign lands and have mixed some information about "The Monuments of Paris." The city, who comes, bringing American greenbacks, will soon find that the cost of a foreign trip is a large number of francs, the cost of a dinner in a Parisian hotel is a large number of said francs, and he will learn that for that same type of quantity or quality, Paris costs more than New York. Of course, Paris has that charm, that踩e "joie de vivre" that can be found between the sturdy buildings of New York, and your life to be beyond, Street or down to Greenwich Village to have a taste of it.

In Paris, of course, these things are easier to get anywhere you go; but the tourist who comes, bringing American greenbacks, will soon find that the cost of a foreign trip is a large number of francs, the cost of a dinner in a Parisian hotel is a large number of said francs, and he will learn that for that same type of quantity or quality, Paris costs more than New York. Of course, Paris has that charm, that踩e "joie de vivre" that can be found between the sturdy buildings of New York, and your life to be beyond, Street or down to Greenwich Village to have a taste of it.

If you have arrived at the great city, you will want to walk around the city for a long time, to see some of the sights. You can get yourself into the Metro (the Paris city subway system) and take the line to the best known Monument of Paris: the Sacre Coeur de Montmartre and its surrounding district.
