The Ahriman Society, an honorary undergraduate organization, is now accepting new members. Anyone sincerely interested in the Institute's future, and his own, should be a member of the Society.

Pledges need only attend a regular meeting of Ahriman. The pledge project consists of locating this meeting, which is held each Wednesday.

Tuesday, February 21, at 8:00 p.m., the Student Committee on Educational Policy (SCEP) will present a panel discussion in Kresge Auditorium on the topic MIT: The Professional School.

Moderating the panel will be Erwin D. Canham, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor. The other members are to be: John E. Burdick, Dean of the School of Humanities and Social Studies; John B. Wilbur, Head of the Department of Civil and Sanitary Engineering; Gordon S. Brown, Head of the Department of Electrical Engineering; Professor Norbert Wiener of the Mathematics Department; Mr. Gilbert M. Roddy, President of the MIT Alumni Association; and Dr. J. Howard Means, past acting director of the MIT Medical Department and past chief physician at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The purpose of whether MIT graduates are really professionals in their fields or just very competent technicians has been under study by SCEP since last fall. There is a prevalent feeling among people that most students at MIT fail to develop a motivation toward society in their work such as one associates with a doctor or lawyer.

Through this discussion, SCEP would like to try to establish to what extent there is a lack and a need for better professional attitudes and to what extent such attitudes can be handled in curriculum form. Questions from the audience will form a major part of the program, and all students are urged to attend.

Pinsuvana Advocates More Autonomy In Many Housecomms

Adul Pinsuvana '59 was the only Undergraduate Association Vice Presidential candidate available for comment.

Mr. Pinsuvana stated that his main concern would be to bolster the autonomy and power of the individual House Committees, with the corresponding decrease in the power of Inscomm.

Bob Jordan, chairman of the Inter-Fraternity Conference has proposed that Inscomm be reduced in size by eliminating the office of UAVP. This is not designed to reduce Inscomm's power, as Mr. Pinsuvana wishes, but he states that he would have no objections to its elimination as an office, that it entails few real responsibilities and that it has been used as a political football in the past.
