Open House—Rule's

A truly successful community is based on the intelligent cooperation of all its members. It is the overall responsibility of the Administration of the Institute to ensure that the conduct of student affairs be such as to maintain the orderly community life which promotes the general welfare and meets the accepted canons of behavior of society while maintaining respect for the rights of the individual. Within this framework MIT students have freedom in managing their personal affairs because MIT believes such responsibility, if judiciously used, will make for growth in character and power.

Concern for these matters has led the Administration to inquire into the extent of visiting hours for women guests in the undergraduate Houses. Upon request, the student Dormitory Council has studied the question and has presented a thoughtful report among the factors cited by the Dormitory Council was the inconvenience of their recommended visiting hours with the parietal rules of women's colleges in the Boston area. The question of these hours is also made more acute by the shortage of lounge space in the dormitories and of off-campus facilities immediately surrounding the school to which a date may be taken.

In light of these considerations, I consider it necessary to reexamine the existing parietal rules to assure the welfare of the student and maintain for the Institute an acceptable standard of conduct.

Visiting hours for women guests in the Undergraduate Houses, commencing with the Fall Term, 1958, will be:

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 4 p.m. - 10 p.m.
Friday 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.
Saturday 12 noon - 1 a.m.
Sunday 12 noon - 10 p.m.
These hours differ from student recommendations in that the hours from noon to 4 p.m. on weekdays and from 10 p.m. to midnight on Sundays are removed. Social events by common practice do not start prior to 4 p.m. on weekdays. Sunday night preceding a working day should be treated the same as other days preceding working day.

The registering of women guests upon arrival and at departure will be required. The doork in the Houses will be open during visiting hours, staffed by regular MIT personnel, and a system of individual guest cards will be initiated. A trial period of one academic year is envisioned for this plan.

The administration of this system will be the responsibility of the Dean of Students in consultation with the appropriate student governing groups. I am certain that all students will cooperate in the observance of these rules.
