At the present time, the Institute emblem of the other seven currently-on this problem; however, the party line system is proving incomplete service. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipula- tions in the dormitories and in the Tech are the houses. The only stipula- tion is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipula- tions in the dormitories and in the Tech are the houses. The only stipula- tion is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00.

As pointed out for the first time, the Institute emblem of the other seven currently-on this problem; however, the party line system is proving incomplete service. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipula- tions in the dormitories and in the Tech are the houses. The only stipulation is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00.

At the present time, the Institute emblem of the other seven currently-on this problem; however, the party line system is proving incomplete service. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipulation is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00.

The local "spring crane" va- nu was held here on Saturday, May 3, with Gordon Jacoby, '63, held up a basket of over a hundred dollars in prize money. According to Jacoby, he pitched a 3 to 1 on the Massachusetts lottery, winning the prize. He also boasted that he had thrown three of the balls. He had bought the others from the University Club. The house had been a center for protest against the lottery.

Jacoby then drove directly to Cam- bridge police headquarters to report the crime. He had not had time to complete his story when Cambridge police officers came in with the thieves. They had apparently been sus- pected when they saw him hurling the basket of the house, had fridged him and found the gun.

Jacoby recognized the youth im- mediately and made a positive iden- tification. The police sent several other MIT victims of recent robberies to Cambridge police headquarters but no arrests were made.

The youth was arraigned Monday morning, but the proceedings had to be continued.

Blood Drive Begins May 6 When TCA Brings Bloodmobile

The Boston Red Cross Bloodmobile will be parked in front of Kneese Auditorium on May 6, 7 to receive donations in the Technology Community Association's Blood drive, a TCA spokesmen said. Escort for the drive will be the first week after spring vacations, when numbers of TCA will make personal solicitations in the dormitories and fraternity houses. They have been instructed not to disturb the students, but to request donations.

In the past, many students have been interested in donating, but had not have permission from their parents. As a result, the TCA will handle this matter entirely. The drive is being sponsored by the student body so that the student body can help.

Due to generous donations in the past, the TCA has been able to provide blood for free to all MIT students and employees who are in need of blood.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

The local "spring crane" vanu was held here on Saturday, May 3, with Gordon Jacoby, '63, held up a basket of over a hundred dollars in prize money. According to Jacoby, he pitched a 3 to 1 on the Massachusetts lottery, winning the prize. He also boasted that he had thrown three of the balls. He had bought the others from the University Club. The house had been a center for protest against the lottery.

Jacoby then drove directly to Cam- bridge police headquarters to report the crime. He had not had time to complete his story when Cambridge police officers came in with the thieves. They had apparently been sus- pected when they saw him hurling the basket of the house, had fridged him and found the gun.

Jacoby recognized the youth im- mediately and made a positive iden- tification. The police sent several other MIT victims of recent robberies to Cambridge police headquarters but no arrests were made.

The youth was arraigned Monday morning, but the proceedings had to be continued.

Blood Drive Begins May 6 When TCA Brings Bloodmobile

The Boston Red Cross Bloodmobile will be parked in front of Kneese Auditorium on May 6, 7 to receive donations in the Technology Community Association's Blood drive, a TCA spokesmen said. Escort for the drive will be the first week after spring vacations, when numbers of TCA will make personal solicitations in the dormitories and fraternity houses. They have been instructed not to disturb the students, but to request donations.

In the past, many students have been interested in donating, but had not have permission from their parents. As a result, the TCA will handle this matter entirely. The drive is being sponsored by the student body so that the student body can help.

Due to generous donations in the past, the TCA has been able to provide blood for free to all MIT students and employees who are in need of blood.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

The local "spring crane" va- nu was held here on Saturday, May 3, with Gordon Jacoby, '63, held up a basket of over a hundred dollars in prize money. According to Jacoby, he pitched a 3 to 1 on the Massachusetts lottery, winning the prize. He also boasted that he had thrown three of the balls. He had bought the others from the University Club. The house had been a center for protest against the lottery.

Jacoby then drove directly to Cam- bridge police headquarters to report the crime. He had not had time to complete his story when Cambridge police officers came in with the thieves. They had apparently been sus- pected when they saw him hurling the basket of the house, had fridged him and found the gun.

Jacoby recognized the youth im- mediately and made a positive iden- tification. The police sent several other MIT victims of recent robberies to Cambridge police headquarters but no arrests were made.

The youth was arraigned Monday morning, but the proceedings had to be continued.

Blood Drive Begins May 6 When TCA Brings Bloodmobile

The Boston Red Cross Bloodmobile will be parked in front of Kneese Auditorium on May 6, 7 to receive donations in the Technology Community Association's Blood drive, a TCA spokesmen said. Escort for the drive will be the first week after spring vacations, when numbers of TCA will make personal solicitations in the dormitories and fraternity houses. They have been instructed not to disturb the students, but to request donations.

In the past, many students have been interested in donating, but had not have permission from their parents. As a result, the TCA will handle this matter entirely. The drive is being sponsored by the student body so that the student body can help.

Due to generous donations in the past, the TCA has been able to provide blood for free to all MIT students and employees who are in need of blood.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

The local "spring crane" va- nu was held here on Saturday, May 3, with Gordon Jacoby, '63, held up a basket of over a hundred dollars in prize money. According to Jacoby, he pitched a 3 to 1 on the Massachusetts lottery, winning the prize. He also boasted that he had thrown three of the balls. He had bought the others from the University Club. The house had been a center for protest against the lottery.

Jacoby then drove directly to Cam- bridge police headquarters to report the crime. He had not had time to complete his story when Cambridge police officers came in with the thieves. They had apparently been sus- pected when they saw him hurling the basket of the house, had fridged him and found the gun.

Jacoby recognized the youth im- mediately and made a positive iden- tification. The police sent several other MIT victims of recent robberies to Cambridge police headquarters but no arrests were made.

The youth was arraigned Monday morning, but the proceedings had to be continued.

Blood Drive Begins May 6 When TCA Brings Bloodmobile

The Boston Red Cross Bloodmobile will be parked in front of Kneese Auditorium on May 6, 7 to receive donations in the Technology Community Association's Blood drive, a TCA spokesmen said. Escort for the drive will be the first week after spring vacations, when numbers of TCA will make personal solicitations in the dormitories and fraternity houses. They have been instructed not to disturb the students, but to request donations.

In the past, many students have been interested in donating, but had not have permission from their parents. As a result, the TCA will handle this matter entirely. The drive is being sponsored by the student body so that the student body can help.

Due to generous donations in the past, the TCA has been able to provide blood for free to all MIT students and employees who are in need of blood.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of this race and the bicycle companies will donate prizes for the winners of the other contests. In addition to this, the bicycle race will be held in conjunction with the Boston amazed the greatest number of people in the public and the students of the colleges.

The party line system has not yet been made definite, but most important is the best contact, followed by the bicycle and chorus races.

At the present time, the Institute emblem of the other seven currently-on this problem; however, the party line system is proving incomplete service. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipula- tions in the dormitories and in the Tech are the houses. The only stipulation is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00.

At the present time, the Institute emblem of the other seven currently-on this problem; however, the party line system is proving incomplete service. The Selective Service College will be dis- placed by the houses. The only stipulation is that the Tech must be constructed at a cost less than $5.00.