FROSH WEEK-END
the freshman that the holiday is over and the hard work is about to begin.
The dormitory and fraternity orientation committees have been busy filling the intention of the week-end program. The program set up by the dormitories includes dinners Thursday and Friday evenings, tours of the high spots of Boston's night life, and informal ball sessions with counselors and coffee sessions with faculty residents.
The counselors were themselves involved at a dinner meeting Wednesday night. During the course of the meeting, Admiral Grahame told the members to steer their charge away from the alumni and out to the departure. Dean Role immediately countered by saying that the last thing he wanted to see was the freshmen get into deep water.

MIT is now engaged in a total campus redevelopment plan, which will take twenty or thirty years to complete. Among the projects invol-ded are a solution to the massive campus parking problem, redevelopment of the Massachusetts Avenue area, plus close agreement with the campus, a student union, and an athletic center.

Responsibility for this planning on the Long Range Planning Committee, headed by Dean of Architecture Pastro Belcastel, with Malcolm Rivkin as chief planning office. They are meeting during the first week of October to test present projects and deliberate a program for the com-ming year.

In Campus Improvement Plans

One major part of the West Campus redevelopment is the demolition of Westgate, which will soon be complete. Until last year, Westgate was the residential center for married students. Its removal will leave a vast area at the western end of the campus. The October meeting will decide what building project will be able to use this land. Among the suggestions for its use are many new playing fields, or possibly new dormitory facilities.

Another project which is nearly complete is the DuPont athletic center, being built during the first week of October to test present projects and deliberate a program for the com-
ming year.

AHEIMAN SOCIETY

The Aheiman Society will follow the usual procedures as those used in the past years. The organization meeting will occur Saturday 20th at the same place as always, where pol-ics for admitting new members will be discussed exhaustively.

BRILLAT-SAVARIN

La Société de Brillat-Savarin will convene at the usual place and time at the River House meeting-suites.
All members are expected to join this most fruitful section of the society.

Keenan to Replace
Den Hartog as Head
Of ME Department

Twenty-seven major changes in the faculty members of six departments were announced by MIT at the summer. The most important shift of personnel is in the Mechanical Engineering department. Professor Jacob P. Den Hartog has re-quitted control of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, which he has held for for years. He will devote all his time to teaching and research here.

Replacing Prof. Den Hartog as head of Course II is Prof. Joseph I.
Keenan, who has been leading MIT for twenty-four years. A major field of interest is thermal, mechanical and steam engineering.

Mechanical Engineering has also run those changes in its faculty.

New chairman is Prof. Morris L. Berman, who will continue as chief planning officer. They are meeting during the first week of Oc-
deliberate a program for the com-
ming year.
