SCHEDULE

With the first fish week, there was a fl activity at MIT as six freshman intercollegiate teams were established for the intercollegiate matches scheduled for the upcoming months. There were only three yearling teams, and forth in such an event as theDUO Championships. The captains of the 1958 hill. The first meet took place on Saturday, September 26th, with the first intercollegiate match between MIT and Harvard. The meet was won by Harvard.

Harrier C

Bob Mallon ’60 and Steve Draper, both highly decorated cross-country runners for MIT, were awarded the medals for the best performances in the first meet. Mallon won the individual championship with a time of 15:28, while Draper finished second with a time of 15:32. Both runners were consistent throughout the race, displaying their speed and endurance.

With the first fish week, there was a flurry of activity at MIT as six freshman intercollegiate teams were established for the intercollegiate matches scheduled for the upcoming months. There were only three yearling teams, and forth in such an event as theDUO Championships. The captains of the 1958 hill. The first meet took place on Saturday, September 26th, with the first intercollegiate match between MIT and Harvard. The meet was won by Harvard.

Harrier C

Bob Mallon ’60 and Steve Draper, both highly decorated cross-country runners for MIT, were awarded the medals for the best performances in the first meet. Mallon won the individual championship with a time of 15:28, while Draper finished second with a time of 15:32. Both runners were consistent throughout the race, displaying their speed and endurance.

With the first fish week, there was a flurry of activity at MIT as six freshman intercollegiate teams were established for the intercollegiate matches scheduled for the upcoming months. There were only three yearling teams, and forth in such an event as theDUO Championships. The captains of the 1958 hill. The first meet took place on Saturday, September 26th, with the first intercollegiate match between MIT and Harvard. The meet was won by Harvard.