LUCKY STRIKE presents

Dear Dr. Frood:

DR. FROOD'S MORAL OF THE MONTH

Most college students today do not know the meaning of the word "adversity." Those who do are just a handful of English majors.

Dear Dr. Frood: How can I leave my husband without making him happy?

Prof's Spouse

Dear Prof's Spouse: Leave a note saying you'll be back.

Dr. Frood

Dear Dr. Frood: We are in a terrible spot and I don't know what to do!

Lovesick

Dear Lovesick: This is an anxiety complex arising out of being a "late-diaper" baby.

Dr. Frood

Injuries Hamper Varsity Booters

Bow to Harvard 2-1, in High Winds

With all scoring aided by high winds, a crippled MIT varsity soccer team was edged 2-1 by Harvard Tuesday afternoon. The victors, playing on their home field, tallied in the second and fourth periods, while the Engineers netted their lone goal in the third quarter, as each score came with the wind in the goaldenester's face.

Last Saturday's victory over Middlebury was quite costly as two first string booters were lost for the Harvard game and possibly longer. Fullback and team captian, Floyd M Возика, '60, was out for almost the entire contest with an injured knee, and right wing Ernesto Macaya, '60, was hobbled by a sprained ankle. Macaya had scored against the Crusaders for the past two years.

MIT failed to capitalize on the elements during the opening twenty minutes of the contest, although they had several good shots. The victors drew first blood when a corner kick was kicked into the Engineer nets midway through the second quarter.
