Crossroads Africa

Registration forms have been sent out for "Crossroads Africa," a program developed to unite North American and African students in a cooperative venture. The deadline for these forms is November 15. All those who have not received one, or who would like to go to Africa, please contact Jim deSola at CO 6-2968.

G. L. FROST CO., INC.

AUTOMOBILE BODY REPAIRING & REFINISHING

E. W. PERKINS
Tel. Elion 4-7100

31 LANDOWNE STREET

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

---

TEXTBOOK SALE

2 and 3 copies of a title
An excellent opportunity to supplement your technical library at 40% to 50% off

---

The Tech

The People of Boston Are Drunk

After being in high spirits, but in formal wear, on Friday night, it was a relief to find the MIT community in still higher spirits, but in their usual casual arrangements. The fight for scholarships was conducted in good humor, avoiding any spilling of beverages from the tables. This was Saturday night of Junior Prom week and the entertaining party, on stage, was confidently given to the Kingston Trio. In the tumultuous atmosphere of complete relaxation, the guests' table harmoniously accepted the challenge of drinking coffee and ginger ale as an example of self-control. It was very pleasant to see Dean and Mrs. Rule, Dean and Mrs. Fanzetti, Professor and Mrs. Bartlett, and Mr. Carlisle set themselves back to the time when they were sitting in the back row, thumping their feet and clapping hands at the performers. Cathy Carle and Laurie Stratton joined the roaring crowd and enjoyed the performance of the Techmen as much as the Kingston Trio.

For thirty-five minutes the Trio held the audience in their hands, making it sing or remain silent at will. The mood of each song was conveyed by light effects of the most varied nature, and in general quite theatrical, which didn't seem to bother the audience as it was sitting in the dark anyway.

Most of the Trio's repertoire was at hand and "nah", "ohh" and "haa" testified the band's appreciation of a repertory, new or old, in its due form. And there was a good reason for appreciating it, as the Trio has its own care of conveying College humor in its lively, unconventional way and a pat-

---

SEMINAR

Mr. E. H. Shutt, Plant Manager Procure & Guaranty Co. "The Function of the Engineer in Plant Management: "Recruiting Industrial Techniques"

Tuesday November 17 4:00

---

Need a Typewriter

See the Corona all Electric

$145.41

Tax Included

Budget Plan

Patrons' Refund

---

We Have Over 300 M.I.T. GRADS

AND WE NEED MORE . . .

FOR OUR 17 OPERATING COMPANIES AND LONG LINES DEPARTMENT

- to fill in behind 12,700 middle and top level management people who will retire in the next 9 years
- to manage producing and operating of companies expanding at the rate of 35% billion annually

FOR THE BELL TELEPHONE LABORATORIES

- to engage in basic research or technical planning for the development of new and improved systems
- to invent, develop or design components and systems in the fields of electronics and communications

FOR THE WESTERN ELECTRIC COMPANY

- to become leaders in an organization whose sales doubled from 1952 to 1959
- to administer the manufacture, distribution and installation of communications equipment for the Bell System and national defense

FOR THE SANDIA CORPORATION

- to fill our need for young engineers with outstanding technical competence for the nonmilitary phases in the development and design of atomic weapons. Sandia has grown to be one of the NEC's major installations in the U.S. and holds a key position in the weapons program.

Please make arrangements for interviews through your Placement Office.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS Nov. 16, 18

---

The Ten

In the November issue of Tech Engineering News, on sale Thursday, November 12, and Monday, November 16, you will find an article describing progress in the field of Controlled Fusion Power. There is also an article on the "generalized machine" in the Electrical Engineering Department.