Getting Down to Business

Editor's note: We didn't believe this either. Surely we didn't print it the minute we got it — we've been saying it all for ourselves.

It had to happen sooner or later. They expect us to get down to business, and take this classroom, textbook and term paper just seriously.

The first few weeks are always great. There are a lot of important things to be taken care of, like lining up dates and getting excited and generally getting squared away. The instructors seem to understand this and don't make too many demands. But there's always a time of reckoning, and the first thing you know you're being clubbed with a spot quiz or a paper. That's the trap. Though the instructors don't actually say it, what they mean is — "Okay, I've been pretty patient so far. Now you get down to work, or else — "

Of course, comfort is the first consideration in the classroom. Nobody can expect a man to concentrate on electronics or history when he's being distracted by uncomfortable clothes. On the other hand, the sloppy look, that way look is out. Many colleges have ever gone so far as to insist on ties. It's way out. Many colleges have even gone so far as to insist on ties. That's the tipoff. It had to happen sooner or later. The Association of Women Students cordially invites you to attend the Christmas Open House tomorrow afternoon in the Margaret Chen-ey Room.
