Await International Week
Dates to be March 12-19
Featured Event is Sports

International Week, inaugurated last year as the foreign students way of saying "thanks to America," will be held March 12-19, according to Jaime Bean, head of the Department of International Student Affairs.

The week consists of a group of cultural programs of the same type as were a Karl Taylor Compton Award last year as one of the two outstanding activities of the year.

The International Follies, sponsored by the Club Latin, will be held at the end of the week.

This year the Fraternity Club has been obtained for this party.

One of the biggest events of the week will be an exhibition Sunday afternoon of the works of a number of artists, practically all American. The paintings of the students will be on exhibit in the Hemenway Hall arcade and in the Hemenway Hall reading room.

"The theme is Picasso," Jaime said. For the paintings, he said, the theme will be "Picasso colors." Picassos in a sense will be on the pathway of the Binswanger Library and in the Hemenway Hall main corridor.

The theme of the week is the theatre, an honor granted to the winner of today's election and a task undertaken by present UAP Chris Sprague, '60, and with situations he has faced. In regards to the Sprague qualities of "Why vote for you?”, Jaime said, "the selection must be made on a personal basis, after the qualifications of the candidates are so nearly equal.

From left to right, Jaffe, Grossman, Vittek, UAP candidates, and Beatrice Chairman Stack are shown at the public reception held last Sunday at Beak House Lawn.

Senior House To Pay $25
Votes No On Referendum

Senior House residents voted Friday night to pay the $25 damage charge which the Dean's office requested from them to pay to the CoCo company. The move started earlier this year when one large window and several smaller ones were discovered broken in the CoCo building. The Senior House Judicial Committee investigated and found the perpetrator. He immediately paid the bill and the issue was considered settled.

Later the Senior House Committee received a bill for $25 for other damages to the windows. CoCo was not sure that the damage was done by Senior House men, and in view of the manner in which the house had handled the initial damages, decided to drop the charges. The Dean's Office, however, sent a message to the Senior House Committee asking them to pay for the damage. It was decided that the bill would be paid by assessing each house resident 13 cents. Later the Senior House Committee received a bill for $25 for other damages to the windows. CoCo was not sure that the damage was done by Senior House men, and in view of the manner in which the house had handled the initial damages, decided to drop the charges. The Dean's Office, however, sent a message to the Senior House Committee asking them to pay for the damage. It was decided that the bill would be paid by assessing each house resident 13 cents. Later the Senior House Committee received a bill for $25 for other damages to the windows. CoCo was not sure that the damage was done by Senior House men, and in view of the manner in which the house had handled the initial damages, decided to drop the charges. The Dean's Office, however, sent a message to the Senior House Committee asking them to pay for the damage. It was decided that the bill would be paid by assessing each house resident 13 cents. Later the Senior House Committee received a bill for $25 for other damages to the windows. CoCo was not sure that the damage was done by Senior House men, and in view of the manner in which the house had handled the initial damages, decided to drop the charges. The Dean's Office, however, sent a message to the Senior House Committee asking them to pay for the damage. It was decided that the bill would be paid by assessing each house resident 13 cents. Later the Senior House Committee received a bill for $25 for other damages to the windows. CoCo was not sure that the damage was done by Senior House men, and in view of the manner in which the house had handled the initial damages, decided to drop the charges. The Dean's Office, however, sent a message to the Senior House Committee asking them to pay for the damage. It was decided that the bill would be paid by assessing each house resident 13 cents.