Rebecca is five feet, six inches tall, has auburn hair and brown eyes. She has worked at MIT for three years, as the office of Professor Thomas B. King. A graduate of W'ilmington High School (her home town is Willington, Massachusetts), Rebecca obtained her secretarial after her father suggested she give MIT a try. Rebecca loves to swim, and is especially fond of water-skiing. She puts a chance to enjoy these sports when she goes to Maine every summer. The former high school cheerleader had the following to say about Tech men: "The men I have met seem to be very nice."
