NE Sailing Regatta Here This Weekend

A combination of the New England Sailing Championships, Athletic Association Intramurals, and general sailing all at MIT this Saturday and Sunday will make this one of the biggest sailing week-ends of the year. The varsity sailors will vie for a birth in the Nationals as they call for the Coast Guard Bowl in the New England Championships tomorrow and Sunday. The top two teams will go on to the Nationals at Detroit in the middle of June.

The Engineers will face eight other teams from eliminations held two weeks ago at Brown, MIT, and Coast Guard.

Extracted Highly Rated Competition should be seen as Coast Guard, Yale, Dartmouth, and MIT, all highly ranked teams, will sail. While the Techmen probably have a slight edge over Yale, Dartmouth, and BU, because of their depth, the team to beat will be Coast Guard who will field their winning pair, Bill Park, and John Wisniewski.

Probable starters for Tech will be George Kings, '60, in "A" Division, with Gerald Shovel, '59, in Division "B," Pete Gray, '61, Jerome Milgram, '61, or Don Nelson, '61, may see action in later races.

Cowboy House Is Site.

While the New England Championships are being held at the Pavilion, the AA Intramurals and general sailing will be held in the upper river basin, above the Harvard Bridge, from the crew houseboat.

A fleet of Tech dinghies, the four 119's, and several Pacifics and Flans will be turned up to the cowhouse.
