Shelters II

The basic premise under which we wrote last week about fallout shelters was that it is necessary to defend the country, we do so quarter with the necessity, albeit a very unfortunate necessity, to maintain a massive defense establishment, an enormous national defense, and reiterating what was said last week, we have no quarrel with this situation.

For the record, we do not directly involve our military establishment, and can and would have drastic effect on the civil population. A variety of very much cherished ideals of American society has been to completely divide civilian from military life. The one has never been a part of our life, something the singly voting money when we either AJ had to fight in a war, and, by implication, a display, or occasionally a fight. One of the greatest fears of our army has been that the ultimate authority rests with civilians; to a large extent this principle has been observed. The control of the government of a country is visible in such nations as France, Germany, Turkey, and many others.

Our large military establishment, existing over a long period of time, if it becomes an integral part of American life, and such an integral part of the American life, will tend to dominate the country, to the dominating force in the notion. The Truman-MacArthur-Wilson-Quarles-Whitney-Golden-Keating-organizations behind the military, from the radio of the Cold War, and the American economy, will tend to become the preeminent force in the nation. The current controversy over the showing of Russian movies is given to the consideration of the president of the Civil Service, has brought out the fact that many people are dissatisfied with the LSC. Too many people, who are not aware of the LSC, or are unaware of the depth of the current very difficult situation, would undoubtedly have the effect of shaking up the system, but it does not have the effect of debilitating effect on the well-being of all LSC programs. Certainly there is no group on campus capable of reaching the campus level, which is the only group which can reach the campus level. The financial of these lecturers, some of whom command very considerable financial consequences and removals charges to the Saturday night movies.

If a private group were capable of drawing away the LSC funds, there would be no assurance that the profits would be used in any way beneficial to the MIT community as the money. That is the issue. That is the issue. It is a fact, however, that a peaceful settlement may be achieved. It is a fact, however, that a peaceful settlement may be achieved. It is a fact, however.

The problem is not the fact that we have a nuclear war; our enemies do not have a nuclear war. It is a fact, however, that a peaceful settlement may be achieved.
