For the benefit of the above, and other frustrated readers, here are the closing paragraphs of the mysterious article —

As a side point many people have noticed the rather curious structure adjacent to Burton on the far side. It was erected about the same time that the dining hall was built and is located directly behind a sign la-held "Burton House Dining Hall." Various speculation has placed this structure as a picnic area, a large memorial statue of the extremist variety, or a future chicken coop. For the benefit of those of whom curiosity has been aroused, this structure has nothing whatever to do with the dining hall. It happens to be a model foundation for a prefabricated building, built for the purpose of testing.
