Live Nude Appears In 'The Entertainer'

There will be a real live nude in "The Entertainer" by English playwright John Osborne. With the original music of John Ardagh, it will be presented by the MIT Dramashop at the Little Theatre, Kresge Auditorium, opening Wednesday, December 13 at 8:30 p.m. and continuing nightly through Saturday, December 16.

The production, staged by Joseph Everingham, Director of Drama at MIT, will be costumed by Mrs. Helen Bottomly, Associate Director of Music at MIT.

All seats are $1.50 and telephone reservations may be made at the Dramashop boxoffice: UN 4-6900, Ext. 2910. Tickets will also be available at the door on the nights of performance.

Rand Talks On Big Business

Ann Rand, one of America's most discussed novelists and philosophers, was born in Russia and educated at the University of Leningrad. She came to this country in 1931 to speak in the Ford Hall Forum Lecture Series at Jordan Hall this coming Sunday, Dec. 17, at 8:00 p.m.; her subject is "America's Persecuted Minority: Big Business." She is best known for the bestsellers "The Fountainhead" and "Atlas Shrugged."

The MIT Chapel is staging a musical, an opera, also this next Sunday, Dec. 17, at 4:00 in the afternoon. Admission is free.

Menotti's three-act tragic opera, "The Consul," which concerns an underground leader and his family in a European country under dictatorship, will be presented Wednesday, Dec. 13, 8:30 p.m., in the Boston University Concert Hall, 855 Commonwealth Avenue. The performance is open to the public without charge.

The MIT Community Players, a group made up of Institute faculty and relatives, will perform "The Intention: A Midsummer Night's Dream," directed by Marie Phillips, for the Christmas meeting, Thursday, Dec. 21, at 6:00 p.m. Cocktails are at 5:30 followed by dinner at the MIT Faculty Club.

Jim Peck, whose Freedom Ride in Birmingham, Alabama, last May resulted in his being unceremoniously beaten up by a gang of pro-segregationists, will be beaten up again by an enraged audience at the Conservatory Auditorium, 31 Memorial Drive, next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. when he attempts to speak on "The White Man and the Non-Violent Struggle for Racial Equality." The funeral service, immediately following, will be conducted by Rev. Donald G. Luthroop, while Ruth Hamilton, mezzo-soprano, will sing the eulogy, accompanied by Hiram Q. Wiggle at the organ.

To add to your already crowded Sunday schedule, there is also the oboe, violin, harp, and cello triumvirate at the Gardner Museum at 3 that afternoon; $4 free.
