Learning never stops for engineers at Western Electric

There’s no place at Western Electric for engineers who feel that college diplomas signify the end of their education. However, a new learning-while-doing, engineers are encouraged to move ahead in their fields by several types of educational programs. Western Electric maintains an own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan in out-hours college study.

This learning atmosphere is just one reason why a career at Western Electric is so stimulating. Of equal importance, however, is the nature of the work we do. Our new engineers are taking part in projects that implement the whole art of modern telephony, from high-speed sound transmission and solar cells to electronic telephone offices and computer-controlled production techniques.

Should you join us now, you will be coming to Western Electric at one of the best times in the company’s history. In the management area alone, several thousand supervisory jobs are open to employees of Western Electric within the next 10 years. And our work of building the future continues to challenge and important the communications needs of our nation and the world continue to increase.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration on the basis of race, creed, color, or national origin. For more information, write to Western Electric, with College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6026, 372 Broadway, New York 3, New York. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview with your college representatives while you are on campus.
