The intramural hockey playoffs are well on their way, with Graduate House favored to win the title again this year. Other major contenders are Theta Delta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Phi Gamma Delta.

Graduate House's front line of Silver, Butman, and Parkey is certainly the scoring unit in the history of intramural hockey here at MIT; they are backed up by a second line of better-than-average intramural players and a very solid defense. In their first two playoff games, Graduate House defeated East Campus 6-0 and Delta Phi 6-2.

Theta Delta Chi, led by seniors Dick Connell and Mike Robb, had trouble finding its scoring range in their first game of the playoffs; they needed five minutes to break the score after being held to a 0-0 deadlock against Lambda Chi Alpha, 1-0, in a sudden-death overtime last Sunday. Last night Theta Delta Chi took on Graduate House in an attempt to win both double-elimination playoffs.

Tom Miehle '62 and Norm Dof Dovn provide the punch for Phi Gamma Delta, who nipped Sigma Phi Epsilon 2-1 last Sunday. MIT defeated Senior Six, had the only official victim of this contest meets the winner of the Grad-TDC battle next Wednesday night, with a 7-0 romp over Chi Phi, SAE barely downed 'Theta Chi the country. Zug, Princeton's Epsilon, has been aided this year by the brilliant goal-tending of Robert A. Rice, who is ranked in the top five in the nation. The Fijis concentrate on a strong defense and hopes for intercollegiate competition, had for Phi Gamma Delta who nipped Sigma Phi Epsilon. 2-1 in Bill Metzler '62, usually the top three or four teams in the nation.

Phi Delta Theta, which is ranked in the top three or four teams in the intercollegiate rankings, had last Sunday. SAE played the Fijis last Friday, the winner of this contest meets the winner of the Grad-TDC battle next Sunday at 7:30.

The first-round Isen's consolation bracket saw Tau Epsilon Phi forfeit its second straight playoff game to Scruener House, and East Campus forfeit to NWSA. Thorsten Hagen '62, juniors Tom Isaacs, Bill McFarland, John Gibbons, and Ross Robb, had trouble finding its scoring range in their first game of the playoffs; they needed five minutes to break the score after being held to a 0-0 deadlock against Lambda Chi Alpha, 1-0, in a sudden-death overtime last Sunday. Last night Theta Delta Chi took on Graduate House in an attempt to win both double-elimination playoffs.

Tom Miehle '62 and Norm Dof Dovn provide the punch for Phi Gamma Delta, who nipped Sigma Phi Epsilon 2-1 last Sunday. MIT defeated Senior Six, had the only official victim of this contest meets the winner of the Grad-TDC battle next Wednesday night, with a 7-0 romp over Chi Phi, SAE barely downed 'Theta Chi the country. Zug, Princeton's Epsilon, has been aided this year by the brilliant goal-tending of Robert A. Rice, who is ranked in the top five in the nation. The Fijis concentrate on a strong defense and hopes for intercollegiate competition, had for Phi Gamma Delta who nipped Sigma Phi Epsilon. 2-1 in Bill Metzler '62, usually the top three or four teams in the nation.

Phi Delta Theta, which is ranked in the top three or four teams in the intercollegiate rankings, had last Sunday. SAE played the Fijis last Friday, the winner of this contest meets the winner of the Grad-TDC battle next Sunday at 7:30.

McFarland Wins Match

Pistol Second in NEPC

Despite this encouraging start, however, the team lost the next two matches of the trip. Wednesday MIT turned in a score of 1297 against Navy's 1403, and the following day bowed to Villanova, 1319 to 1331.

After a night in Philadelphia, the team continued north and Friday afternoon faced the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, New York. MIT won the match by a narrow margin of five points, 1519 to 1524. The following day, MIT faced the undefeated West Point team, losing 1412 to 1301.

The team arrived home at 1 a.m. Sunday morning, and during the following week fired posted matches against Arlington State, Ohio State, and George Peabody University. And in the UHPL match Tuesday night, MIT defeated the top-ranked Hansecom Field team, 1099 to 1075.

Friday afternoon, February 9, the full squad of eight men left Cambridge for the National Police Pistol Shooting Academy in New London, Connecticut, to compete with six other teams in the Intercollegiate Pistol Sectional. The competition included two teams each from MIT, West Point, and Coast Guard, and one team each from the Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Massachusetts.

The results of this match, in competition with the New England Gallery Pistol Shooters matches fired throughout the country. The competition included two teams each from MIT, West Point, and Coast Guard, and one team each from the Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Massachusetts.

Despite this encouraging start, however, the team lost the next two matches of the trip. Wednesday MIT turned in a score of 1297 against Navy's 1403, and the following day bowed to Villanova, 1319 to 1331.

After a night in Philadelphia, the team continued north and Friday afternoon faced the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, New York. MIT won the match by a narrow margin of five points, 1519 to 1524. The following day, MIT faced the undefeated West Point team, losing 1412 to 1301.

The team arrived home at 1 a.m. Sunday morning, and during the following week fired posted matches against Arlington State, Ohio State, and George Peabody University. And in the UHPL match Tuesday night, MIT defeated the top-ranked Hansecom Field team, 1099 to 1075.

Friday afternoon, February 9, the full squad of eight men left Cambridge for the National Police Pistol Shooting Academy in New London, Connecticut, to compete with six other teams in the Intercollegiate Pistol Sectional. The competition included two teams each from MIT, West Point, and Coast Guard, and one team each from the Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Massachusetts.

The results of this match, in competition with the New England Gallery Pistol Shooters matches fired throughout the country. The competition included two teams each from MIT, West Point, and Coast Guard, and one team each from the Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Massachusetts.

Despite this encouraging start, however, the team lost the next two matches of the trip. Wednesday MIT turned in a score of 1297 against Navy's 1403, and the following day bowed to Villanova, 1319 to 1331.

After a night in Philadelphia, the team continued north and Friday afternoon faced the Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, New York. MIT won the match by a narrow margin of five points, 1519 to 1524. The following day, MIT faced the undefeated West Point team, losing 1412 to 1301.

The team arrived home at 1 a.m. Sunday morning, and during the following week fired posted matches against Arlington State, Ohio State, and George Peabody University. And in the UHPL match Tuesday night, MIT defeated the top-ranked Hansecom Field team, 1099 to 1075.

Friday afternoon, February 9, the full squad of eight men left Cambridge for the National Police Pistol Shooting Academy in New London, Connecticut, to compete with six other teams in the Intercollegiate Pistol Sectional. The competition included two teams each from MIT, West Point, and Coast Guard, and one team each from the Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Massachusetts.

The results of this match, in competition with the New England Gallery Pistol Shooters matches fired throughout the country.

The first Army team won the match with a score of 1153, followed by Coast Guard #1, 1107; Coast Guard #2, 1079; West Point #2, 1060; University of Massachusetts, 1045; Harvard, 1033; Merchant Marine Academy, 1014; MIT #2, 956.

SUBJECTS WANTED FOR THE EXPERIMENT ON PERCEPTION. Male students, ages 18-20, will be paid $2 per hour minimum for one-hour session. Please report to Mr. Durland or Miss Vivian Bennett, ES 6-4600, Ext. 144.

AAA ARCO Car Rental Minicost $5.00 per day, per mile 41-1114 at the Airport or MIT Agent: Steve Checkaway CT 7-8911.