Critics' Choice
Too few foreign films being shown in Boston

By Gilberto Perez-Geitlermo

Often, it happens that a film that has received considerable praise in England and Europe receives a lukewarm or even hostile reception from the New York press. This is particularly puzzling in some cases, when European critics of widely different viewpoints agree as to the quality of a film, and American critics of different publications agree on dissecting the film differently.

A film like Cedric Gibbons’ ‘My Life’ (now showing in New York) received a critics’ prize at Cannes, the highest critical rating in the British magazine ‘The Student Rep. ’ CO 6-0122.

LSC Entertainment Service transfers ‘Sight and Sound’ (with good and evil) into one rather trivial considerations about law and justice. The clichés of period zen films are not absent, and Peter Ustinov’s performance as Captain Voss is wholly inadequate. FILMS TO AVOID: ‘The Lavender Hill Mob,’ ‘Love is a Ball,’ ‘Boys in the Attics,’ ‘Women of the World,’ ‘The Wrong Angel,’ ‘Doctor No,’ ‘Boys Night Out.’
