The MIT Rugby team extended its unbeaten record to 3-0 with an 8-3 victory over Brown last Saturday. The ruggers had previously beaten the New York Rugby Club and Harvard Business School.

Saturday's match was played in brilliant sunshine against a very energetic Brown 15. Some scrappy play in the opening minutes gave Brown a successful try from a line-out near the MIT line. After this, MIT recovered and won the majority of scrums, often pushing the Brown scrum right off the ball. The Techmen soon scored the only try in a penalty kick by Bob Donaldson. Although MIT had held most of the territorial advantage, half-time came with the score level.
