NEW LOCATION OF
Larry's Barber Shop
545 Technology Square
(Opposite Garage in Back of East Campus)
"For that well groomed look, go to Larry's!"
EL 4-6165 (1 Hour Free Parking)

BRAND NEW AND BRILLIANT
MORE OF EVERYTHING THE LIMELITERS

Inside Inncomm (Continued from Page 4)
For Student Council affect activity participation, spirit, eating habits, study date habits, fraternities, or the MIT position in relation to the community? Once the program is better understood, it will be much easier to make decisions using the written definition as a foundation for thought.

Orientation for foreign students at MIT Host Family Program
The Host Family Program, a program designed to help new foreign students orient themselves upon arrival in the United States, will begin its family recruitment drive this week for next year's program. The program, now under the direction of Mrs. Norman J. Patelford and Professor Paul M. Chalmers, Adviser to Foreign Students, will be available to all foreign students. The recruitment program will run through March, April, and May.

The program is designed for single men students. Single women foreign students are placed with families through other MIT women, and married couples are greeted through the Technology Matrons' "Welcome Program." The plan is to offer each newly arriving foreign student with an American family for two days of his stay in the United States. Families are selected through the recruitment program, and every attempt is made to have between the student and his family close ties throughout the summer prior to his arrival. The student is met on arrival and spends the next few days with this family until permanent arrangements can be made. In many cases, the program has gone beyond the original bounds, and the families have kept in touch with the students spending vacations with them.

The program was begun three years ago by the President of the student body as an experiment. In the first year of operation, 85 students were able to find families. This number has grown, and Mrs. Patelford has indicated that it is hoped that the program can be extended to all new foreign students.

The Limeliters sing and play once more. Great folk standards like "No Man Is an Island," "The Best Is Yet To Come" and "Willow Tree." It's more of the best with the Limeliters.

SUPERIOR SHIRTS

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME
With the Commencement Day just a couple of short months away, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody is asking it; I mean everybody! I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus without somebody grabbing my elbow and says, "Hey, Shorty, what do you mean, everybody! I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus without somebody grabbing my elbow and saying, "Hey, Shorty, what do you mean, everybody?" This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by colleagues who grab my elbow. Ordinarily they say, "Hey, Shorty, what do you mean, everybody!" And this is fitting. After all, are we not college students and therefore loaded with brains? And does not Marshall deliver a flavor that is uniquely delicious? And am I not short? But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes.

A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears crimson, a master of liberal arts wears lemon yellow, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow? Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow.

BRAND NEW AND BRILLIANT
MORE OF EVERYTHING THE LIMELITERS

Inside Inncomm (Continued from Page 4)
For Student Council affect activity participation, spirit, eating habits, study date habits, fraternities, or the MIT position in relation to the community? Once the program is better understood, it will be much easier to make decisions using the written definition as a foundation for thought.

Orientation for foreign students at MIT Host Family Program
The Host Family Program, a program designed to help new foreign students orient themselves upon arrival in the United States, will begin its family recruitment drive this week for next year's program. The program, now under the direction of Mrs. Norman J. Patelford and Professor Paul M. Chalmers, Adviser to Foreign Students, will be available to all foreign students. The recruitment program will run through March, April, and May.

The program is designed for single men students. Single women foreign students are placed with families through other MIT women, and married couples are greeted through the Technology Matrons' "Welcome Program." The plan is to offer each newly arriving foreign student with an American family for two days of his stay in the United States. Families are selected through the recruitment program, and every attempt is made to have between the student and his family close ties throughout the summer prior to his arrival. The student is met on arrival and spends the next few days with this family until permanent arrangements can be made. In many cases, the program has gone beyond the original bounds, and the families have kept in touch with the students spending vacations with them.

The program was begun three years ago by the President of the student body as an experiment. In the first year of operation, 85 students were able to find families. This number has grown, and Mrs. Patelford has indicated that it is hoped that the program can be extended to all new foreign students.

The Limeliters sing and play once more. Great folk standards like "No Man Is an Island," "The Best Is Yet To Come" and "Willow Tree." It's more of the best with the Limeliters.