Mr. Mark Grondin is a master handsewer of Bostonian Flex-O-Mocs and he will be in our store March 19. In watching him work, you will see, at once, that it takes unusual skill... he must apply just the right amount of tension and take exactly five stitches to the inch. This is so important, that the slightest variation results in a rejected shoe. Hand sewing of the front seams gives Bostonian Flex-O-Mocs foot hugging comfort and easy flexibility.

The three-act structure of utopian society was revised Monday and now considered obsolete by the committee. This year, your choice might be more than a Chevy. This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet less over).
