Mail volume increases

By Edward Steinberg

The volume of mail handled by the MIT Mail Service has increased over four percent in the past year. The Mail Service, located in the Superintendents Office Building 24, delivers about 300 copies of mail a day. In addition to the usual letters, the MIT mail service handles a large volume of printed material, such as advertisements, brochures, and other promotional literature.

Prof. Blancho to lecture Thursday on "Cuba and Our Foreign Policy"

Professor Ernesto E. Blancho, of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, will speak Thursday at 8 p.m. in Kresge Auditorium on 'The Truth about Cuba and Our Foreign Policy.'

From June to August visiting:

- London
- Warsaw
- Leobendorf
- Turin
- Rome
- Munich
- Brussels
- Copenhagen
- Stockholm
- Rome
- Venice
- Warsaw
- Helsinki
- Brussels
- Copenhagen
- London
- Stockholm
- Rome

The Kneller Tour is organized and led by Prof. George Kneller of the University of Cambridge. The tour is designed to introduce students to the rich cultural and historical heritage of Europe.

Admission to the tour is $17,000 per person. For more information, contact the tour director, Mrs. Mildred G. Downes, at 71 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, MA 02139.

Two messages emblazoned on Green Center facade: 'IHTFP,' Theta Chi spelled out last week in lights

The letters IHTFP, pronounced by Theta Chi last Tuesday, appeared on the facade of the Green Center for the Earth Sciences. The message was spelled out in lights on the facade of the Green Center. The letters were illuminated to advertise a presentation scheduled for the following day.

Adult Education Center to teach study techniques

An eight-week course in study techniques is being offered by the Boston Center for Adult Education, beginning tonight at 8 p.m.

Tickets for both presentations may be purchased at the door or in Building 26 tomorrow through the dormitory. The price of each ticket bought at once is 40 cents.

For Europe in 1964

The Kneller Tour

22nd Season

From June to August visiting:

- London
- Warsaw
- Leobendorf
- Turin
- Rome
- Munich
- Brussels
- Copenhagen
- London
- Stockholm
- Rome

The Kneller Tour is organized and led by Prof. George Kneller of the University of Cambridge. The tour is designed to introduce students to the rich cultural and historical heritage of Europe.

Admission to the tour is $17,000 per person. For more information, contact the tour director, Mrs. Mildred G. Downes, at 71 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, MA 02139.

Old Spice...with that crisp, clean masculine aroma!