Duplicate MIT delegations vie for Young Republicans recognition

Dennis contended that they had been eliminated from consideration. Dennis claimed that the second list was valid, citing as the source the objections of the club's former treasurer, listed on the first list of delegates, who had been automatically disqualified.

The convention vote on the issue confirmed the Credentials Committee, which had accredited the original list. In the voting for State Chairman, the three on the original list provided the only votes for Richard Mastrangelo, as the vote was 122-119.

Methane atmosphere

Arcturians problem for MIT, Inc.

The convention vote on the issue provided the winning margin for the Methanians. Mr. Wick's report indicates that the Methanians have a limited amount of telepathic ability but seem to use it in a form of communication only under duress. In the ESP tests we thought we had discovered a race with exceptional talent but later found that their high, almost perfect, scoring was due to the method.

The young are born in eggs and the eggs are carried around in skin pouches similar to those of the newly evolved Terrarian Pungul until the hatching stage. The young hatch and then are ready to take care of themselves. During the Terrarian years, they seldom leave home, however, before physical maturities are reached, during Terrarian years.

The Arcturan normal body temperature is 48C and their pulse rate is 100 times per minute. As a result they are very slow and move at a very frequent walked using one or both arms as a case or pair of crutches.

"Their normal walking pace is about one-fourth mile per hour, but if pressed they can go almost eight times faster for very short periods. Even with HLG units we don't travel much faster than they do. Their slow pace does not seem to bother them since their whole system is geared to it. Their stimulation response time is about two minutes.

"Their auditory, vocal and visual range is extremely large. They can hear sounds with frequencies as low as 1,000 cycles/second. Their visual range goes from 1/9th to 3,000 cycles/second and their visual range passes from the near infra-red through the ultraviolet. The Methanians use atomic power to generate electricity, but have no other electronic devices. Since the ten-pound object on Terrarion weighs 110 pounds on Arcturan IV, steel and iron are too heavy for wide use in building and manufacuring. Materials such as magnesium, titanium and the plastics are used because it is so light.

"Their walking pace and slow motion gives them an advantage in slow walk missions where they are able to cross rough terrain and take advantage of the terrain. They are excellent long distance runners.

"As you might expect they are gregarious and even the farmers are very good friends. The Methanians are extremely friendly and get along well with other species.

Backward culture

In general, the Mechanian civilization is described as a somewhat backward culture—living in little centralized communites. Their religion is monotheistic and their music, literature and art is very primitive.
