Two new honors given at year-round Awards Convocation

By Steve Portney

The annual Awards Convocation was held last Sunday in the Tech Auditorium. Featured was the presentation of the Karl Taylor Comstock Awards given in recognition of "outstanding contributions in promoting high standards of achievement and good citizenship within the MIT community." This year the recipients of the awards, all seniors, were: Richard Lee Blaisdell, Alan Charles Cooper, Stephen B. Miller, Robert Peter Pospicil, Robert Kent Scott, and Steven Warren Brostoff. The awards also gave recognition to the Alumni "gives of the year" at MIT for High School Students.

Two awards were presented this year for the first time. The President's Prize, for outstanding work during the year, was given to Laxmi M. Vaidyanath. Two awards were given this year for the first time. The President's Prize, for outstanding work during the year, was given to Laxmi M. Vaidyanath.

AFROTIC student among top in US; wins two awards

Edward L. Arne '64 is the recipient of two awards as an outstanding AFROTIC cadet. One is the Link Foundation-Army ROTC Award for outstanding scholastic achievement. This award carries a $500 fellowship for one year of graduate study. Arne is a member of the Corps of Cadets and a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

The second award is the Society of American Military Engineering Award, given each year to the top twenty AFROTIC cadets in engineering or science. Arne is a member of the Corps of Cadets and a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

The Link Foundation-Army ROTC Award for outstanding scholastic achievement. This award carries a $500 fellowship for one year of graduate study. Arne is a member of the Corps of Cadets and a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

The second award is the Society of American Military Engineering Award, given each year to the top twenty AFROTIC cadets in engineering or science. Arne is a member of the Corps of Cadets and a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Awards in Athletic Administration

The award for outstanding contribution in athletic administration was presented to Thomas E. Willett, head of the Athletics Department. The award is presented in recognition of "outstanding contributions in promoting high standards of achievement and good citizenship within the MIT community."

The award for outstanding contribution in athletic administration was presented to Thomas E. Willett, head of the Athletics Department. The award is presented in recognition of "outstanding contributions in promoting high standards of achievement and good citizenship within the MIT community."

Fun Fair to be held this Saturday by International Student Assoc.

The International Student Association will hold its annual Fun Fair on Saturday at 6 p.m. in the Technological Conference Hotel, 2nd floor.

The Fun Fair will feature booths organized by students from various countries. refreshments, exotic foods and gifts are expected to be available. The Fun Fair will continue until 9:30 a.m. and will be open to the public.

The Fun Fair is expected to be a valuable opportunity for International Students to present their home countries at MIT.

Information for the Fun Fair will be available in the Student Life Office, 3rd floor, MIT Union.