"Pinafore" planned as next production for G & S Society

The Gilbert and Sullivan Society, which is now starting its second season, will hold its first meeting on Thursday, September 24, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be in the Bush Room (10-350).

Everyone interested in participating, whether as performer or technical assistant, is invited. An audition schedule, to be set up at the organizational meeting, will be posted in Kresge Auditorium.

The Society this fall will present the opera "Pinafore." This production will take place in Kresge.

The spring production of the Society will take place in the courtyard of Hayden Library. It has not yet been chosen.

President Julius A. Stratton has recently returned to MIT after spending ten days in Bogota, Colombia. As a trustee of the Ford Foundation, he conferred with officials of universities and other institutions regarding various educational and research programs.

Dr. Stratton, accompanied by his wife and one of his three daughters, was met with MIT students and spoke at a dinner given by the MIT Club of Columbia.

History of Art subjects offered for this term

Subjects covering the history and appreciation of modern art will be available this Fall. The subjects, offered by the Department of Architecture, do not have prerequisites and are open to all students, including freshmen.

The subjects offered include 4.00 Introduction to the Visual Arts I and 4.009 Post Impressionism. The courses will be taught by Prof. Wayne V. Andersen, Prof. Janice M. Applebee, and Prof. H. G. Seuphor. Further information in Room 7-108 or MIT extension 4062.

The Department is also offering a freshman seminar, Contemporary Art and Architecture, which will include field trips in the Boston area.

Professor from Yale to give two courses in Humanities Dept.

The first courses in anthropology at the Institute will be taught this Fall by Dr. Sidney W. Mintz, who has been appointed Visiting Professor of Humanities for the fall term. He is coming from his post as chairman of the Department of Anthropology at Yale University.

Professor Mintz, 42, was graduated from Brooklyn College in psychology in 1943 and received the Ph.D. degree from Columbia University in anthropology in 1951. He has been on the faculty at Yale since that time.
