From the bidding and the going in the lead, Star pushed out its start at least one card in diamonds and clubs and probably at least one space. The two East, very likely started one or two hearts, one of which must be the King in order for the point count to be high enough to bid it as he did.

After winning the opening lead with the Ace of Clubs, South should win the trick, so he must take his last bid on the Dummy in the dummy, making the contract.

Three groups form Goldwater coalition

MIT’s three pro-Goldwater student political groups have banded together for the presidential campaign. The Students for Goldwater, Young Republicans, and America for Freedom recently joined forces in a “Goldwater campaign coalition.” The group claims a present membership of over 300 and hopes to enroll 10% of the undergraduate body by November 1.

The group will staff a booth in building 10 until the election.
