With the target date for the completion of the Student Center less than 8 months away, President A. R. Schmid, the building's architect, released the final plans of the activities floor this week.

The activities floor provides almost 30,000 square feet of floor space for the Institute's varied clubs, societies, and general groups. Apart from the area set aside for general room activities, the floor also has lounges, art studios, darkrooms for general use, and music practice rooms.

Located on the fourth floor, just below the Student Center Reading Room, these activities facilities are expected to be available for use 24 hours a day.

The remainder of the building will contain pool tables and eight lanes of bowling; a United States Post Office (Technology Substation); a pharmacy, a greatly expanded Technology Store with nearly 30,000 square feet of floor area; and the 15,000 square foot, 500-seat Reading Room which will duplicate most of the reserve book collections of the other libraries.

The Center as a whole has about 169,000 square feet of floor space and will cost $27 a square foot when furnished.

The Center's director, Professor Eduardo Catala, the Center's director, said this week that the Student Center Activities floor plan will be released with the completion of the Student Center government board and the general committee of such a facility.

The members of the Student Center committee traveled to Bridgeport last weekend for the New England Convention of the Association of College Unions. With such schools as Brown, Boston University, and the University of Massachusetts in attendance, the conference discussed the functions and organization of a student center government board and the general committee of such a facility.
