Townes wins Nobel Prize for masers

The interrioty Conference is sponsoring a blood drive among the MIT fraternity.

Jan Savoye, chairman of the drive, announced that the drive will end on November 10 when the Red Cross will collect blood from the pledged donors. The blood collected will be credited by the Red Cross to the New England Hemophilia Association, for Monday, 275 pledges of blood had been collected from fraternity members. Savoye stated that those prospective donors under 21 must get parental permission to give blood.

Last year's IFC drive netted 211 pints of blood.
