NASA's Research Center to begin recruiting of 900-member staff

The NASA Electronics Research Center (ERC) tentatively plans to establish a space site in Kendall Square. It will start recruiting for its 900-member science and engineering staff.

According to Dr. Albert Kelley, director, ERC, NASA is trying to get half of its professional staff "fresh out of college". Of those, about 70% will have bachelor's degrees.

Dr. Kelley, a former experimental test pilot and MIT graduate, points out that NASA...
