Electronics thwarts would-be lovers near British Columbia girls' dorm

By Jeff Trimmer

The door of the house where you have made the weekly dash to the will of Wednesday in order to make the 3:10 or 3:20 we dahs, we might point to the situation at the University of British Columbia. It seems that the new Totem Park Girl's Dorm is surrounded by an eight-foot-high wall with spotlighted grounds on either side of it. The dorm also has a very effective burglar alarm, and the grounds are crawling with sensitized microphones. These are all combined to confound the would-be degenerate. Combined to confound the would-be microphones. These are all grounds are crawling with sensitized microphones. These are all combined to confound the would-be degenerate.

John Lauritzen, a planning Placement Officer, and be sure to arrange for an interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Boston faculty discuss facets of Vietnam

There will be a sequence of lectures by faculty members of the University of Minnesota's East Asia program in the Minnhaha Auditorium on the campus. The program will begin at 7 p.m. at Lowell Lecture Hall. The program will continue until 3 p.m.

Some of the speakers will be John M. Kelly, director of the University of Minnesota's East Asia program, and Dr. Robert J. Clark of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

discuss the recent book on Vietnam by Professor J. J. Turton, who will speak on "The Beginning: 1945 and After"; and Prof. Philip Morrison, Professor of Physics, Harvard, whose topic of discussion will be "The History and Options." Prof. J. J. Turton, who will speak on "The Beginning: 1945 and After"; and Prof. Philip Morrison, Professor of Physics, Harvard, whose topic of discussion will be "The History and Options."