The new Inscomm: time to grow up

At the Inscomm meeting last Thursday, a motion passed to recommend that the class of 1966 be given precedence in the bidding for Kresge Auditorium, which was to be auctioned at a concert on October 5. The matter was brought before the Committee at the last meeting, some members expressing concern that Inscomm had not been given the first chance. This was effectively admitted by the subsequent passage of a motion defeating any objection to the order of the day until after the decisions had been made by the Dean’s office.

The Finback chairman made the observations which should have guided the action of the students. The main argument of the Finback argument was the need to demonstrate to the scheduling committee that the scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical should not be the only thing to be discussed with the committee. It only served to demonstrate to the committee that there were other factors to be considered in the scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical.

The Tech is not the only one whose opinion is sought in this matter. The scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical is not the only thing to be discussed with the committee. The scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical is not the only thing to be discussed with the committee. The scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical is not the only thing to be discussed with the committee.

The Tech are the opinion that the scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical is not the only thing to be discussed with the committee. The scheduling of Kresge Auditorium for the Tech’s new musical is not the only thing to be discussed with the committee.

Music at MIT

So much is said about the top position of music at MIT that this major activity is taken for granted, almost ignored, and its weak points are seldom discussed. We feel that there is room for improvement both in the musical activity and in the student appreciation for the concerts presented.

The Concert Band-Symphony Orchestra concert Friday is a good example. On the one hand, the Band played a work by a composer who is successfully enjoying the players, but a bit trying to the listener. On the other hand, what about technical requirements? One wonders if the audience who are enjoying too much Sullivan is as enjoyable too after all. From the other viewpoint, the technical requirements are not a bad thing. We feel that the general high quality of the concert as a whole.

The music department seems generally unconcerned about playing up to a student audience; this is unfortunate. The purpose of the concerts is to help support the student activities. The purpose of the concerts is to help support the student activities. The purpose of the concerts is to help support the student activities. The purpose of the concerts is to help support the student activities. The purpose of the concerts is to help support the student activities.

If our “amateur” activities are supposed to be an education in the ways of the world, this is something very naive about Inscomm’s view of the world. Business ventures are not successful because they give the better grades. The junior class president bothered to offer an opinion that particularly was important, and his reason, that it was necessary to help support JP, was ridiculous.

The new Inscomm: time to grow up

We are greatly encouraged that, as our letter response on the subject of responsibility and control of activities by the people and things around them, we have been allowed to give our opinions on the financial records. Our opinions are not given in full; in general, our policy of individuality and self-control is not applied. Letters turned in after Sunday were impossible to print.

As the year draws to an end, it will be easy to lose the question of responsibility in the more immediate problem of looking good. Hopefully, those who are interested in the discussion will join with us again at the beginning of the new term.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.

Inside Inscomm

Student Center plans available; Scheduling to begin soon

By Bill Byrn, UAP

Fifteen hundred copies of a brief two-page brochure containing floor plans and other information about the Student Center have been printed; copies are available in the Inscomm Office in Kresge.

The Student Center Committee is now in the process of securing out activities and other small groups that might be help from a desk, file cabinet, or a telephone. These facilities are available in the Student Center and currently there are more than unsung. Interested groups should write out a list of their needs and transmit them to John Adger, chairman.

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, (see editorial, left) Mr. Hermaness of the Deans Office, is, with some student input, in the process of scheduling some of the groups. Hopefully, those any of the groups running programs in Kresge could anticipate which parts of the Student Center they would like to use in conjunction with their Kresge event.

The Committee to the Center committee the financial information, it would be very useful for us to have a complete and actual schedule and accounting.

The Association of Student Activities of the Center, was founded in 1965. The Association is comprised of students involved in the Student Center activities and the sponsorship of the Student Center. It is under the direction of the Student Center.