The MIT sailing team ended one of the best fall seasons it has engaged in over the past two years with a number ofrmally championship performances. Tech's sailors dominated both the New England Trophy Regatta, which brought together five New England colleges, and the Fowle Trophy Regatta, which included the Coast Guard Academy, URI, and Dartmouth.

Tech won decisively. The Fowle Trophy Regatta, which took place last weekend, was a total domination for Tech, which a team score in a race which was determined by the position of all but one vessel in the race. The MIT sailing team ended one of the best sailing seasons in MIT's history, Brown was up near the top three but was unable to maintain their lead heading downwind over a Boston College finisher in the final two periods.
