By Dan Asimov

ROTC is very popular at MIT this year. For some reason, freshmen on this date the newspaper ROTC has not been doubled, and in Army ROTC has more than tripled, over last year's. With this year's reports, war is made for several reasons. The most immediate reason is our government's backing of the Vietnam War, which is the immediate interest of the student body. It particularly encourages freshmen seeking an Institute course to express their interest.

The Tech provides a chance of peace from the student's academic schedule. Scheduled at a typewriter in the new room in the Student Center, one can attempt to exercise his literary talent and the government of many Institute reading material for his fellow students.

It is hoped that the Institute community will help to support this venture.

TROSH ENROLLMENT IN ROTC HIGHER: AIR FORCE Doubles, ARMY Triples

By Dan Asimov

The Student Center Christmas party set for Saturday

By Ted Nygren

Vol. 85, No. 27 Cambridge, Mass., Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1965 5c

Fein named to head group for disarmament research

By Dan Asimov

The board of directors of the Student Center has named Professor John D. Fein, Assistant Professor of Political Science, to head the Student Center's Advisory Council.

The new Council has been created by the Student Center as a result of a large increase in the enrollment of the Student Center. The Council is composed of four members, each representing a different division of the Student Center.

The Council's main function will be to advise the Student Center on matters of policy, and to act as an advisory body to the Student Center's administration.

The Student Center is a student-run organization that provides a variety of services to the student body, including a library, a cafeteria, a bookstore, and a variety of social events.

Richard Lucy '66 of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of the 'Best Dressed Man on Campus' contest sponsored by Esquire Magazine and The Tech.

The Tech seeks entries for first photo contest; three divisions created

Rules for the Tech's first annual photo contest appear on Page 3 of today's issue. If you are a student of the Institute, and you are eligible, enter in any one division, or all three. First prize in each division will be awarded for first place at each contest, with two other prizes each year, and with the Hunters' September issue.

Lucy, a senior major from Sanborn, New York, was selected as winner in the 'Best Dressed Man on Campus' contest sponsored by Esquire Magazine and The Tech.

The Tech and displayed in the Student Center.

The Tech plans issues every Tuesday, Friday

The Board of Directors of The Tech voted unanimously Sunday against weekly publication beginning Tuesday, January 4, 1965, to reduce the number of its issues during the remainder of the school year.

The decision, which has been under consideration for several months, was made for several reasons. The most immediate reason is the change in the student body, and particularly encourages freshmen seeking an Institute course to express their interest.

The Tech provides a chance of peace from the student's academic schedule. Scheduled at a typewriter in the new room in the Student Center, one can attempt to exercise his literary talent and the government of many Institute reading material for his fellow students.

It is hoped that the Institute community will help to support this venture.

TROSH ENROLLMENT IN ROTC HIGHER: AIR FORCE Doubles, ARMY Triples

By Dan Asimov

The Student Center Christmas party set for Saturday

By Ted Nygren

Vol. 85, No. 27 Cambridge, Mass., Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1965 5c

Fein named to head group for disarmament research

By Dan Asimov

The board of directors of the Student Center has named Professor John D. Fein, Assistant Professor of Political Science, to head the Student Center's Advisory Council.

The new Council has been created by the Student Center as a result of a large increase in the enrollment of the Student Center. The Council is composed of four members, each representing a different division of the Student Center.

The Council's main function will be to advise the Student Center on matters of policy, and to act as an advisory body to the Student Center's administration.

The Student Center is a student-run organization that provides a variety of services to the student body, including a library, a cafeteria, a bookstore, and a variety of social events.

Richard Lucy '66 of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of the 'Best Dressed Man on Campus' contest sponsored by Esquire Magazine and The Tech.

The Tech seeks entries for first photo contest; three divisions created

Rules for the Tech's first annual photo contest appear on Page 3 of today's issue. If you are a student of the Institute, and you are eligible, enter in any one division, or all three. First prize in each division will be awarded for first place at each contest, with two other prizes each year, and with the Hunters' September issue.

Lucy, a senior major from Sanborn, New York, was selected as winner in the 'Best Dressed Man on Campus' contest sponsored by Esquire Magazine and The Tech.

The Tech and displayed in the Student Center.

The Tech plans issues every Tuesday, Friday

The Board of Directors of The Tech voted unanimously Sunday against weekly publication beginning Tuesday, January 4, 1965, to reduce the number of its issues during the remainder of the school year.

The decision, which has been under consideration for several months, was made for several reasons. The most immediate reason is the change in the student body, and particularly encourages freshmen seeking an Institute course to express their interest.

The Tech provides a chance of peace from the student's academic schedule. Scheduled at a typewriter in the new room in the Student Center, one can attempt to exercise his literary talent and the government of many Institute reading material for his fellow students.

It is hoped that the Institute community will help to support this venture.