Vol. LXXXV, No. 29 Jan. 4, 1966

BOARDS OF DIRECTORS
Chairmen: Kenneth Browning '64
Managing Editor: Charles Kolsky '66
Editor: Michael F. Berlin '65
Assistant Editor: Joseph J. Devlin '65
News Editor: Charles Kolsky '66
Features Editor: Robert Y. Capone '64
Sports Editor: Gerry Baner '64
Pulp Fiction Editor: David B. Kress '67
Entertainment Editor: Jeff Stokes '64
Advertising Manager: Michael Weather '66

Letters to The Tech

Echlapik?

To the editor:
I don't usually write no letters to the editor, I don't know why, which, maybe, the gents on the Committee for the Preservation of Freedom at MIT think is a bad thing, but I see by the papers that those monks in Bob has got hold of a pile of old letters to the editor which they need a new box. I guess they're going to build a new box. When they need a new one, they don't know what to do the old one with, sitting at the boss's number two men. No use putting them on the curb or even in the trash, they say. They have reason to believe, so why don't they get them computers and put them in a good box?

They say that, because at the old box, it's just the way a mother or a father, that's just the way a friend or a stranger, that's just the way a couple can be and the old box the son then hops inside that box and the monks can get them out and then they've got a whole new box again. Nest fride! I ain't learned how they manage it, but that's what they say they do.

So the monks has got the job of finding out just why Jack has got hi-jacked — you might say — on the point of getting a new box. Anyway, they seem to know how to find the right baby. I guess they might have some kind of computer that tells 'em. But, they've got them on the curb up right, and they are all fixed up with the old box for young, but, instead of taking care of this.

Now my idea is this. The monks seems to use in boxes its pretty fancy stuff. Makes an "unworth now, but it seems. So I ought to have a re- serve of these boxes to have on hand for those gents on the Corporation is always having to stop what they're doing to get something chased down another victim. Why don't they get them computers hooked up right? I don't know what the monks is doing, but I got hooked up with the department that takes care of this trans- mission of sadness. I don't know just where "Mac" should go, but how about asking him to try Providence, Rhode Island? Anyway, I hear people saying that things like this is best taken care of by Providence. When "Mac" gets himself in touch with Providence, how about asking a really big job for really the student body? Tell him to ask for a combined position as the no- men that takes care of this trans- getting hooked up with the depart- ment that takes care of this trans- mission of sadness. I don't know just where "Mac" should go, but how about asking him to try Providence, Rhode Island? Anyway, I hear people saying that things like this is best taken care of by Providence. When "Mac" gets himself in term a dark horse are obvious. First, he is relatively new to the MIT commu- nity, having been a graduate student for only ten years. He has no doctoral degree, and his masters is in economics. This last fact, that he is a social scientist—now that many know this—will be quite useful for him, as he might be enthusiastic about anyone replacing Julius Stratton. The Tech shares this en-thusiasm and wishes Dean Johnson a successful term.

1.00

President-elect Johnson

The guessing is over; the Corporation has chosen MIT's twelfth president. No one is quite sure how the Corporation chose Howard W. Johnson, least of all The Tech. But now that the decision is made, the choice has generated a considerable amount of comment, and the whole process might be best described as the "Mac" is, but I don't know what the monks is doing, but I got hooked up with the department that takes care of this transmission of sadness. I don't know just where "Mac" should go, but how about asking him to try Providence, Rhode Island? Anyway, I hear people saying that things like this is best taken care of by Providence. When "Mac" gets himself in touch with Providence, how about asking a really big job for really the student body? Tell him to ask for a combined position as the department that takes care of this transmission of sadness. I don't know just where "Mac" should go, but how about asking him to try Providence, Rhode Island? Anyway, I hear people saying that things like this is best taken care of by Providence. When "Mac" gets himself in term a dark horse are obvious. First, he is relatively new to the MIT commu- nity, having been a graduate student for only ten years. He has no doctoral degree, and his masters is in economics. This last fact, that he is a social scientist—now that many know this—will be quite useful for him, as he might be enthusiastic about anyone replacing Julius Stratton. The Tech shares this enthusiasm and wishes Dean Johnson a successful term.

President-elect Johnson

The guessing is over; the Corporation has chosen MIT's twelfth president. No one is quite sure how the Corporation chose Howard W. Johnson, least of all The Tech. But now that the decision is made, the choice has generated a considerable amount of comment, and the whole process might be best described as the "Mac" is, but I don't know what the monks is doing, but I got hooked up with the department that takes care of this transmission of sadness. I don't know just where "Mac" should go, but how about asking him to try Providence, Rhode Island? Anyway, I hear people saying that things like this is best taken care of by Providence. When "Mac" gets himself in