they hit on only 32 percent of their first goal attempts. The Crimson closed the half leading 36-34, although they almost fell apart three minutes into the second half when MIT towed the ball up court and a fast break seemed to be in the making. But the Crimson turned in time to stop the break five seconds before the buzzer sounded.

In the second half, the Crimson had the ball for almost five minutes, but couldn't get a shot off. When the ball was finally shot, it was missed and MIT got the rebound. Techmen caught the ball and their center, Larry Fennessy, made a 14-foot shot, cutting the score to 39-34 with 3:32 left in the game.

After Techmen missed a shot, the Crimson called timeout to stop the clock. After a conference, the Crimson went in for a rebound, and after that, the Crimson took off. They started with a three-point shot by Kinsella and a jumper by Wlson to tie the score at 39.

The Crimson seemed to have the game under control. They took a lead of six points, but Techmen refused to give up. They cut the lead to 45-43 for the last time with 2:50 left in the game. The Crimson had a big chance to pull ahead even more, but they missed two free shots by Fick at 4:30 left. Two pressure free throws by Fick put the Crimson up 47-43 with 2:30 left in the game. The Crimson then turned to the defense for a timeout, and a defensive collapse happened. The Crimson called a time-out and checked the game plan. The Crimson took a lead of 51-43 with 1:40 left in the game. The Crimson scored 19 points in the last 60 seconds of the game to win the game.
