West Campus reshuffling limits Westgate capacity

(Continued from Page 1)

These girls will not be required to subscribe to Commons meals. These girls will not be required to subscribe to Commons meals. These girls will not be required to subscribe to Commons meals. These girls will not be required to subscribe to Commons meals. These girls will not be required to subscribe to Commons meals.

The new Dean's House planed

The Institute plans to build a new Dean's House in the parking lot east of Burton House. The name will continue to operate the Sloan Campus tower until their new one is completed, although they will probably have to commute from Boston.

Candidates draft plans for election petitions

Campaigning is underway for the annual MIT undergraduate elections, scheduled this year for Tuesday, March 1.

Candidates must prepare petitions with valid signatures of 10 per cent of the eligible voters in the election. No petition may be circulated without a picture on the first sheet.

Petitions must be in Room 6203 (Student Center) by 4 p.m. Friday, February 18, and must be enclosed in plastic covers when turned in. No late petitions will be considered. Petitions must have activities record of the candidate attached.

Petitions must have the name, address and telephone number with the Institute Committee on Election Affairs, which will conduct a seminar on Tuesday, March 1. These include the special economic base of small growth industries, the university magnets, and further space for economic expansion.

With regard to the NASA center, slated for Kendall Square and other urban renewal programs, Wood states that "the opposition has been so intense that special interest groups and urban renewal efforts are already forcing us to really improve our cities by putting minority interests ahead of a much broader public interest."