Trackmen tie for fifth in Greater Boston meet

A tie for fifth in the Greater Boston meet Tuesday. Individual laurels go to Gordon DeWitt ’66, who finished the first round with a total of 122 points. This made him the season-top finisher in this event, and enabled him to finish behind perennial champion John Frascone ’67 and Jim Connors, both of Boston College. Frascone, the meet record holder, took the event with a total of 126, .5 stroke off the first-place showing of Harvard’s John Robinson. Brown’s Steve Bradbury tied for fifth with a total of 128.

There were a few moments of clapping which have brought in the future, when the boys have added more to the nucleus of players. This will be a great source of joy for the members of the team with a few more than three weeks. The meet, held at Bridges Field, will be a major event in the history of the track team.

For three and a half hours, the varsity baseball team struggled against the University of New Hampshire elements Wednesday, only to lose 3-0. In a game that had a little bit of everything, the losing hand changed several times as the score soared upward. No one on either pitching staff could find the plate as the multi-directional game threatened to blow away the field. Four BU pitchers moved from one bench to the pitcher to the showers before their shortstop finally got a hit, pinching in the last inning.

The BU pitchers gave up a total of 12 hits and six runs. MIT did not fare any better, as six Tech pitchers gave up 15 hits and 12 runs. In a game which actually defies statistics, MIT did not have some bright moments at the plate.

The second inning MIT put together five walks and singles by Tom Hood, Mike Wyke, ‘67, Jack Clancy ’66, and Jim Redfield ’67 to score six runs and take the 6-0 lead. BU came back in the third with three runs, but Tech responded with three more runs in the fourth, four of which were walkable by Redfield. With the score frozen at 6-5 for two innings, BU opened up with six runs in the sixth, three in the seventh, and three more in the eighth to lead 16 to 8. In Tech’s half of the eighth MIT put 34 men to the plate. Five walks and two hits including a three run double by Clancy brought eight runs to tie the score, 16-16. Unfortunately, BU was able to score five times in the ninth inning to pull out the win.

Senior House 11-5; East Campus 2-1; Sigma Chi 4-4; Theta Chi dumped ATO 10-6; and clocking.
