By Steve Wisser

By Joe Stowe

By Chuck Hollinger

By John Keyes

Earlier in the day, a strong baseball team split a doubleheader, dropping the first game 15-4, but coming back to take the second 7-4.

The first game could be described as nothing short of disaster for the Beavers as they lost 35-17. The Engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The games were shortened to nine innings as the engineers pulled even. At the end of the day, the engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The JV and third varsity teams followed the same pattern, losing 6-1. The engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The JV and third varsity teams followed the same pattern, losing 6-1. The engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The JV and third varsity teams followed the same pattern, losing 6-1. The engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The JV and third varsity teams followed the same pattern, losing 6-1. The engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.

The JV and third varsity teams followed the same pattern, losing 6-1. The engineers held the game scoreless until the last two innings and won 7-4.