MIT students

Flunk draft test

In an interview Friday, Mrs. Lutt reported that preliminary re- turns on the first (May 3) Selective Service Grade Classification Test indicated that the median grade for MIT students is around 14.

Almost 100% flunked the exam on the first try May 14.

"Five minutes" When test day arrived and students took the test, Mrs. Lutt said, "five minutes from now we will be here tomorrow" until the reporter said "Hello" and identified himself.

At this point, the revised dean of students claimed, through many tears, that he was really quite sure and to see the dormitory students got taken against their will into that nasty army and that there was nothing to do but pray and pray.

Of the 966 entering freshmen, only 29% will be eligible for defer- ment, and the rest are expected to be drafted next year. At the same time, Radcliffe Admissions Office has underestimated the size of its freshman class by approximately 600 girls. Therefore, in a cooperative agreement, the Radcliffe class of 1970 will occupy Burton House; the occupants of Burton House will be moved to Baker; Baker dormitories will be shifted to Smith and Senior House will be in East Campus; East Campus people will live in Senior House; and Senior House men will be put up at the American Hotel in New York City. Anyone dissatisfied with this arrangement, (due to another cooperative agreement) will be drafted.

Inner Belt

Corporation, Department of Public Works change route plans

Surveysing has begun in the lobby of Building 10 for the revised Inner Belt route. All students in Course I have dropped out of the Institute to work for the Mass. Department of Public Works.

The Massachusetts DPW and the MIT Corporation, working jointly, have put up a new proposal for the Inner Belt highway. The new route will not dis place any buildings or families and will cost far less than the currently favored Elm Street route.

Through the Vote

The road will pass through the main corridor of the Institute, on the first and second floors. The corridors are wide enough to allow two-lane traffic in each direction. A toll bridge will be constructed where the corridor on the second floor passes over the Building 10 lobby. The toll bridge will be installed at the intersections of the main corridors to prevent pedes- trian accidents. Jaywalking on the new policy is retroac- tive to September, 1965. Re- gistrar Warren D. Pease explained that the decision would not allow his office to give credit to those sen- iors who took their hours this term or last term. As a result, he believes that the planned commencement exercises would have to be curtailed. Krusge Little Theatre is the new site of the graduation ceremonies.

All seniors who do not have sufficient hours for graduation are reminded to fill out their registration material for next term over the summer. The Registrar apologized for any inconvenience this may have caused members of the senior class.

You want credit?

By Laura Pollack

The Registrar's Office has announced that the sen- ior thesis requirement has been dropped by all depart- ments of the Institute in accordance with a policy set down last year which elimi- nated the thesis from gen- eral Institute requirements.

The new policy is retroac- tive to September, 1965. Registrar Warren D. Pease explained that the decision would allow his office to give credit to those sen- iors who took their hours this term or last term. As a result, he believes that the planned commencement exercises would have to be curtailed. Krusge Little Theatre is the new site of the graduation ceremonies.

All seniors who do not have sufficient hours for graduation are reminded to fill out their registration material for next term over the summer. The Registrar apologized for any inconvenience this may have caused members of the senior class.

In the photograph:

Full-page photograph of a person standing in front of a building. The text reads: "Photo by Gene Fantz".

Back Bay revised

"Jay-walking law called discriminatory"

By Allen Kline

This is the 73rd in a regular series of articles dealing with the psychological and socio-economic crises of typical 10-man suite in new Gregor dorm allows typical tech tool maximum convenience

By Ann R. Berger

The setup of the rooms for the Gregor Dorm was revealed to Peter H. Lawrence, Assistant to the Vice President of Operations and Personnel.

A typical room, designed by Nina Williford, Dean Emerita, and Fellow of Arts Pictures and Field Planning, was set up in the Lobby of Building 10, so that everybody could see what it was like.

Berger explained that the dorm was designed for maximum convenience and use of space. His aim for the design of the rooms was based on answers to ques- tionnaires on what the typical student wanted to his room.

In response to the questionnaires about bedrooming support for a room which the student never leaves, except for classes, only the most essential facili- ties are included in the rooms.

It was felt that the typical student will spend most of his time in the new Student Center/Library. Consequently, the usual plans for the room, which, with 20 to 24 single, have been changed so that there will be 10 to 12 man suites.

A 10-man suite for the new Gregor Dorm is portrayed in the Lobby of Building 10. Notice modern conveniences.

"Photo by Bob Hasfitz"

You want credit?

The Registrar's Office has announced that the sen- ior thesis requirement has been dropped by all depart- ments of the Institute in accordance with a policy set down last year which elimi- nated the thesis from gen- eral Institute requirements.

The new policy is retroac- tive to September, 1965. Registrar Warren D. Pease explained that the decision would not allow his office to give credit to those sen- iors who took their hours this term or last term. As a result, he believes that the planned commencement exercises would have to be curtailed. Krusge Little Theatre is the new site of the graduation ceremonies.

All seniors who do not have sufficient hours for graduation are reminded to fill out their registration material for next term over the summer. The Registrar apologized for any inconvenience this may have caused members of the senior class.