The Tech
Vol. 6, No. 33
Cambridge, Mass., Friday, Sept. 30, 1966

Strike threat averted
Johnson guidelines down; MIT employees get 10%

By Goody Rossell
President Lyndon B. Johnson's strike-avoidance campaign received a boost last week when the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service ruled that the federal courts could not stop the MIT strike

Johnson outlined a new contract that would provide for pay hikes ranging from 3.2 per cent to 6.5 per cent. The new contract is a model for upcoming negotiations with the National Education Association, the union representing MIT faculty.

The new contract includes provisions for a 10 per cent pay raise for all employees, a new flexible work hour plan, and a new pension plan that will provide retirement benefits for employees who have worked for the university for 20 years.

Student expelled on probition in SAH hearings

By Chuck Kesh

At a hearing last week, the Student Affairs Committee of the Student Government Association expelled one undergraduate for violating the student conduct code.

The committee also placed two undergraduates on probation
for violating the student conduct code.

The committee recommended that the Student Affairs Committee expel one undergraduate and place two others on probation.

NASA seeks scientists

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration of the National Academy of Sciences is inviting applications from experienced scientists and engineers for positions in the aerospace industry.

The applications should be submitted to the NASA Headquarters.

Requirements for applicants:

An applicant should be a U.S. citizen or be on a leave of absence,
and have a doctorate in the natural sciences or engineering.

Students invited to inauguration:

ticket distribution continues today

The inauguration of Howard W. Johnson as the twelfth President of MIT will be held at 10 a.m. on October 7. The program will begin with the reception in the Lobby of Institution Hall and continue in the Student Center.

The ceremony will begin at 11:30 a.m. and will include greetings
from the Delegates and President Howard W. Johnson.

The ceremony will continue with the Inauguration and the presentation of the Inaugural Address and the Inaugural Oath.

The Inauguration Committee visits all students to the inauguration.

additional seating will be available
in the Sanders Theatre.

Music will be played throughout
the ceremony for those who will be watching the event on television.

Additional seating will be available
in the Sanders Theatre.

The ceremony will be broadcast
on closed circuit television.

Tickets will be needed for seating
in the Sanders Theatre.

The ceremony will conclude with
the musical performance.

The ceremony will be broadcast
on closed circuit television.

Tickets will be needed for seating
in the Sanders Theatre.

The ceremony will conclude with
the musical performance.

Additional seating will be available
in the Sanders Theatre.

Music will be played throughout
the ceremony for those who will be
watching the event on television.

Additional seating will be available
in the Sanders Theatre.

Music will be played throughout
the ceremony for those who will be
watching the event on television.