Teuber featured Thursday

Professor Hans-Ludus Teuber, head of the Psychology Department, was the featured faculty member at Thursday's noon "Encounter." About 100 people jammed the East Lounge of the Student Center to join Professor Teuber in an informal question and answer hour.

Topics brought up during the discussion included the relationship between psychology and physiology, LSD and other hallucinogens, and the future of the Psychology Department at MIT.

Professor Teuber explained that he felt drugs such as LSD were extremely dangerous and should not be kept out of lay hands. He was rather bright about the future of the Psychology Department, for he was looking ahead to the possibility of an undergraduate degree being offered in Course IX. Also, he viewed as a possibility cooperation with a medical school in the Boston area in order that MIT might be able to award a degree whose requirements were more suitable for medical school preparation.

The Student Center Committee will present Roland Grole, Director of Admissions, at Thursday's "Encounter." It will begin at noon in the East Lounge of the Student Center.

When it comes to politics, is big business a Mugwump?

Some sharp tongues define "mugwump" as a political animal with his "mug" on one side of the fence, his "wump" on the other. Clearer heads claim it a stamp of independence. The definition and corporate stance Western Electric takes is strictly nonpartisan.

But nonpartisan as WE must be, we recognize that, to be an effective citizen, the individual must become a political partisan. And we urge him to vote - and to think about the candidates.

Emphasized among the new members of WE's "Mugwump" group is the importance of the vote and the need to study as much as possible about the political candidates and the political parties. It is vital that the individual understands his responsibility as a member of the political process.

A Mugwump is essentially a man who does not want to be influenced by politics. He is an independent. He is a nonpartisan. He is a noncommittal. He is a non-Socialist. He is a non-degenerate.

If you're not a Mugwump, then you're just a mugwump.
