Lincoln Lynch, Associate National Director of the Congress of Racial Equality, will appear at an anti-war rally Sunday afternoon at 1:00 at the Sanders Theater in Memorial Hall, Harvard University.

The Alpha Chi chapter of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity announces that its "Ugliest Man on Campus" (UMECO) Contest will run from Dec. 6. As the name suggests, its purpose is to find the ugliest man at MIT, and to raise money for the American Cancer Society of Massachusetts.

The contest is open to any registered, duly accredited male student at MIT. The candidates may be sponsored by any registered activity or living group (if they wish to be associated with the person). It is hoped that there will be approximately 30 finalists so that it will be certain that the ugliest man is elected. The candidates can use make-up if they so desire.

All expense paid.

The winner of this contest will receive a truly unique prize: an all expense paid trip, details of this will be fully explained later, but for the present, suffice it to say that the nature of this trip shall be such that the winner will be the envy of every man on campus.

If you are handsome, suave, and charming, the contest is not for you. On the other hand, if you are ugly, grungy, and cool (as Techno!), this is the most important article that you will ever read in your entire life.
