Caltech Mucoda mimics Field Day; Co-ed housing favored at Minnesota

By Karen Winstead

Fire events are scheduled. A tug of war with the losing team pulled through the mud in first. The next event is a sack race where "all inevitably eat the mud at least once." Pick-up arrow shooting at its dirtiest was the event from which the competition derives its name. The fourth event was wheel-barrow, pushing through the mud. And last but not least was a contest to see who can remove most dirt from a swamp. If only because of the swamp, it was dirtier than the snow fight here. As the event numbered 19 started, the class of 70 triumphed.
