The Cambridge Chapter of the Ripon Society, a Republican base group whose primary aim is to counteract the Conservative image of the Republican Party by putting forth a program highly palatable to moderates, has recently issued a policy statement on the draft. The society, headed by MIT Assistant Professor of Political Science John S. Salmon III, is widely respected throughout moderate circles, and its views are taken very seriously.

Abolition Draft

The Ripon report called for the abolition of the draft, and the establishment of, in its place, a 2.7 million man volunteer army. The Society dismissed the lottery alternative to the draft as a "me-