Cagers win 3 over intercession

With a nine-game winning streak, the Cagers have had a remarkable season so far. In the last six games, the engineers have defeated Colby, Bates, Wesleyan, Nichols, Connecticut, and Providence. The team is now up by three points in the New Hampshire game. Alex Wilson ’67 scored 20 points to bring their three-season total to 108 and break the school record. And, it was recently announced that Gary Talbot ’67 was named to the weekly Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference College Division All-Star team on the strength of his 20 points and 10 steals in this game.

The next game will be important to MIT, as they take on one of the best teams in the Northeast, Wayne State. Saturday at 8:35.

Down Air Force, Wesleyan

Pucksters place second in Invitational Tournament

By Jon Steele

The MIT skaters won three of their six games over the past weekend, bringing their season total to 46 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-

rA

Erly in the third period Bruce-

rA

The Spirit of Tech is alive and well.

The MIT Athletic Association has named the new holder of Tech’s all-

The Proprietors of Tech’s all-

President Alex Wilson ’67 has been instrumental in the move toward women in athletics.

In the near future, the team will be playing against the University of Connecticut, where they will have a record of 4:6 and placing second in the MIT-Round Robin Tournament that had one weekend.

Dana Wensley, 64

Before finals, the Indians traveled to Wesleyan, where they scored a morale-boosting victory and increased their chances for a shot at the championship. Don Bozek ’67 led the skaters in front with two goals and an assist. He was joined by Matt King ’67, who was a fantastic dribble-guard who was a fantastic defense, and Andrew Lamer ’67, who was a fantastic defense.

Dave JTs ’68 had two more

in particular began to hit unde-